ZBA gives variance to expand Vicor

By Don Staruk

The Zoning Board of Appeals, in an unofficial vote Monday night, unanimously approved a use variance for two lots on Frontage Road that will allow Vicor Corp. to expand there.

Town Meeting on April 2 of this year voted against rezoning the same two lots, and one on Osgood Street, from residential to industrial. This year was the third time since 1985 that town meeting has denied a rezoning request for the three lots.

The Osgood Neighborhood Association, a group of local residents opposed to the Vicor expansion, was expected to appeal the ZBA decision in court.

The ZBA is expected to write and sign the decision within the next couple of weeks. Any appeal could then be filed.

Paul Bruk, who owns the land and building Vicor currently occupies at 23 Frontage Road, has an option to purchase the three lots. He petitioned for the variance and was pleased with the board's decision.

"The next step is for the developers to go through the various town boards to obtain the necessary approvals," Mr. Bruk said Tuesday.

Active seniors Hiking, biking, traveling keeps them going

By Don Staruk

If staying active and involved is good for physical and mental well-being, and trucks, bears or sharks don't get them, many Andover seniors will continue to live long and healthy lives.

"Whatever you do, keep doing it," is Peggy Hutchins' philosophy for staying healthy.

When she and her husband, Hutch, are not playing tennis on the clay court outside their home at 180 Abbot St., they are often out bicycling. She is 71 and he is 69.

The pair started bicycle touring with a six-week, 1,400-mile ride across England, Germany and Switzerland in 1985.

"We did 50 miles a day," Mrs.

Hutchins said.

The sport stuck and the couple just spent last weekend bicycling near his hometown in northern Maine.

They belong to the "Bicycle Adventure Group," a non-profit group whose members organize their

Gas leak stops traffic

By Don Staruk

Five persons were overcome by carbon dioxide last Thursday night after a cloud of the gas leaked from a storage tank at a bottled gas company in Tewksbury just over the Andover line. All were treated at St. John's Hospital in Lowell and released.

The liquid carbon dioxide leaked in vapor form from a valve on a storage tank at Liquid Carbonics Specialty Gas Corp., at 1635 Shawsheen Road in Tewksbury. The company is about 500 yards from the Andover line at Dascomb Road just past Interstate 93.

Tewksbury firefighters received a call at about 9 p.m. on Aug. 1 of a problem at the company. When firefighters arrived on the scene, they saw one car on Shawsheen Road enveloped in a white cloud of gas that had settled across the street, according to Lt. Dick Barrelle, of Tewksbury Fire and Safety.

"It kind of settled on the ground," Lt. Barrelle said.

Employees from the company, who by then had noticed the cloud and were on the scene, told firefighters that it was carbon dioxide, a gas that dissolves oxygen.

Firefighters entered the cloud, found two more cars and carried four semiconscious occupants of the vehicles out of the cloud. All four were taken by ambulance to St. John's where they were treated and later released.

The cloud looked like fog and motorists apparently slowed down and drove through it as it settled onto the roadway. Eventually it became so thick that one motorist stopped and was overcome by the gas, according to Lt. Barrelle. Two more cars behind the first also stopped and their occupants were also overcome.

The cars may have stalled from the lack of oxygen caused by the gas, the lieutenant said.

"It appears the three of them did stall within the confines of the vapor cloud," he said.

"Carbon dioxide displaces oxygen," according to Dewey Erzinger, a spokesperson at Liquid Carbonics' Chicago office.

If a person were to remain in a concentrated cloud of carbon dioxide he could suffocate, Mr. Erzinger said, but added that, "Normally, CO2 is a very friendly gas."

The CO2 at Liquid Carbonics is sold to manufacturers for use in carbonation of beverages, to make dry ice used for refrigeration, and for many other uses.

Lt. Phillip Froburg, of the Andover Police Department, was one of the Andover officers who responded to the scene Thursday night to assist with traffic control.

"Luckily, they got the people out of there in time," Lt. Froburg said. "It could have been a serious situation."

A manager of Liquid Carbonics borrowed a breathing device from firefighters and went into the cloud to shut the valve on the outdoor storage tank. The cloud of gas dissipated once the valve was closed. The manager was treated at the scene for frostbite caused by the gas.

One firefighter was also treated and released at St. John's after being overcome by the gas.

The gas had dissipated and safety personnel left the scene by about 10:15 p.m.

Investigators from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration and other agencies last week were still trying to determine the specific cause of the leak, according to Lt. Barrelle.

A control or shut-off valve may not have been closed properly, according to fire officials, or the valve simply malfunctioned, according to Mr. Erzinger.

Andover firefighters assisted for mutual aid with an ambulance. Ambulances from Tewksbury, North Reading and Wilmington were also used.

Masons hold blood drive Aug. 15

One of the Massachusetts Masons' statewide blood drives will come to Andover this summer.

The blood drive will be held Thursday, Aug. 15, at the Masonic Hall as part of the three-day series of drives.

Donations will be accepted from 2 to 8 p.m. at the hall, located at 7 High St.

Summer is historically the season when the blood supply is at its lowest level, because many donors are on vacation, according to Deborah Driskell, a spokeswoman for the American Red Cross.

This year the downturn in the economy has further decreased donations, she said.

"Businesses have closed and others have relocated, resulting in a decline in available donors," Ms. Driskell said.

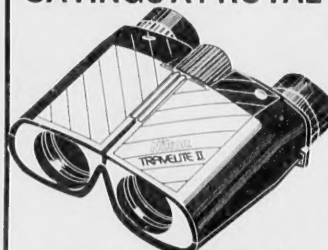

The statewide drives are sponsored by the Grand Lodge of Masons in conjunction with the American Red Cross Blood Services' northeast region.

For more information, call the American Red Cross at (800) 922-4376, Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Peter Regan indicted on 12 counts

By Don Staruk

Andover resident Peter J. Regan was indicted by a federal grand jury in Boston Thursday, Aug. 1, on 12 counts of embezzlement and willful misapplication of $886,289.78, which allegedly belonged to Shawmut Bank.

Mr. Regan, 49, of 72 Salem St., a former senior vice president in charge of a special loan department at Shawmut, was arrested at his home by federal agents on Wednesday, July 17. He was fired from Shawmut on July 5.

Shawmut Bank began an investigation of Mr. Regan's activities on July 2, according to an affidavit filed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The bank learned from U.S. Trust Corp. that Mr. Regan had attempted to transfer approximately $580,000 from an account he'd established at U.S. Trust, in the name of Winter Investment Corp., to a personal account he'd opened at Sun Bank, of Naples, Fla.

By tracing the deposits to the U.S. Trust account, it was determined that the funds came from a number of other accounts established by Mr. Regan at Shawmut, or its subsidiary, Provident Bank, according to a statement from the office of U.S. Attorney Wayne A. Budd.

The accounts contained money owed to Shawmut by various debtors whose accounts at the bank were being handled by Mr. Regan. The affidavit filed by the FBI stated that Mr. Regan had no authority to divert such moneys to his personal use or benefit.

Mr. Regan faces a maximum penalty of 20 years imprisonment or a $1 million fine, or both, if convicted on count one of the indictment, and a maximum penalty of 30 years imprisonment and a $1 million fine on each of counts 2 through 12.

The U.S. Attorney's office and the FBI are continuing to investigate the case. The case is being prosecuted by Robert J. Lynn and Ralph F. Boyd, assistant U.S. attorneys.

Attention local single people!

Last week the Townsmen asked readers to write or phone in the name of interesting single people who live or work (or both) in Andover. The paper has received the names of several singles and looks forward to receiving more suggestions, until Aug. 30.

The paper will publish profiles of some of the interesting single people here. But the paper needs your help in locating them.

The foundations are nearly complete and the brickwork is just beginning on Wingate at Andover, a 123-bed nursing home being constructed on Andover Street across from Dascomb Road. "We're looking to open about a year from now, spring of 1992," Willie Scalsic, vice president of Wingate Development Corp., said last week. In addition to 24-hour nursing care, the facility will offer adult day care for up to 30 clients. Wingate will begin accepting employee and resident applications sometime after Jan. 1.

475-1943 with your suggestions. Appropriate suggestions for the profiles are people who work here, or people who live here and work out of town, whose jobs are interesting, or who do interesting work for the community; or they simply are people we'd like to read about.

The Townsmen welcomes your suggestions, which the paper needs by Friday, Aug. 30.

Town offers cholesterol screening for $5

The Andover Board of Health will hold a cholesterol screening clinic Wednesday, Aug. 21, from 9 a.m. until noon. An appointment is necessary. Call the health department at 470-3800, Ext. 255.

The simple fingerstick test for total cholesterol costs $5 and does not require fasting.

The program includes dietary counseling by the public health nurse and referral to a person's private physician for follow-up care as needed.

Reception set for 3 new principals

Andover's three new principals will gather at the School Committee conference room Tuesday night, Aug. 13, at 6 p.m. for a reception to be held in their honor. The committee is organizing the reception so parents and townspeople can meet the three before the start of the new school year.

Timothy Thomas, former assistant principal at Andover High School, is the high school's new principal. He will be joined at the reception by Samuel Campbell, the new principal at West Middle School, and Debra Dunn, the new principal at Bancroft Elementary School.

Mr. Thomas and his wife, Melinda, live at 150 Main St. with their 4-year-old son and three-year-old daughter.

Mr. Campbell is the former director of secondary education for the Franklin County Public School in Rocky Mount, Va. He has been an administrator at both the secondary and elementary levels.

He and his wife, Helen, a retired English teacher, plan to move to Andover as soon as possible.

Ms. Dunn is a former elementary school principal in Chelmsford. She has experience teaching at the elementary and kindergarten level, as well as special education level.

She is currently taking classes toward her doctorate in administration policy at the University of Lowell.

Ms. Dunn said she doesn't have plans to relocate to Andover. She'll remain in Chelmsford where she currently lives.

Fire damages Partridge Hill home

By Don Staruk

Two firefighters were slightly injured battling a two-alarm fire that heavily damaged a home on Partridge Hill Road Saturday night. The residents were not at home at the time of the fire.

Firefighters responded to the home of Douglas and Susan DeMoulas, at 9 Partridge Hill Road, at 9:04 p.m. Saturday, after they received a call from a neighbor.

"When they got there they had flames showing at the front of the building," Lt. James Lynch said this week.

Two cars were at the house leading firefighters to believe the residents may have been home when they first arrived.

"It did go to a second alarm" at 9:16 p.m., the lieutenant said.

A second alarm brought 32 firefighters, three fire engines, the ladder truck and an ambulance to the scene, as well as a second ambulance from Tewksbury. It also brought fire engine companies from Lawrence, North Andover and Tewksbury in to cover the Andover fire stations.

Lt. Richard Hannon, the first firefighter on the scene, was injured when he tried to make his way into the house.

"The floor gave way before him as he entered at the front," Lt. Lynch said.

Other firefighters pulled Lt. Hannon out of the house.

"They were able to reach in and grab him," Lt. Lynch said.

Lt. Gerald Stabile was also injured. He received an eye injury from glass while ventilating the house.

Both firefighters were treated and released at Lawrence General Hospital and were expected to be back on the job this week.

It took firefighters about a half hour to extinguish the blaze.

The home suffered "heavy structural damage," according to Lt. Lynch, but no dollar figure had been attached to the damage.

"The first floor caved right in," he said.

The DeMoulas family was vacationing in New Hampshire over the weekend when members were notified of the fire.

Mr. DeMoulas came home Sunday morning to inspect the damage.

The cause of the fire was still undetermined on Tuesday, but Lt. Lynch said arson was not suspected.

Deputy Robert Bush is investigating.

HISTORY

Historical Society plans a lecture, lunch

By Charlotte Smith

Dressing for the Occasion is the topic of the Andover Historical Society's next lunchtime program on Wednesday, Aug. 14, at noon. Karen Herman, a member of the exhibit committee, will highlight the current exhibition on fashion from the 1850s to the 1920s. Please bring a bag lunch. Lemonade and cookies will be provided.

Drawing on the society's extensive collection of costumes and accessories, this display is designed to give some insight into what people wore for important occasions in their lives: including christenings, graduations, weddings, balls and other events, and funerals.

When it comes to graduation, or "anniversary" as it was known at Abbot Academy and Andover Theological Seminary, every school has its own special traditions. The society's library contains many files of programs and articles describing Senior Exhibitions, ivy planting exercises, award ceremonies and other graduation-related events at Abbot Academy, Andover Theological Seminary, Phillips Academy, Punchard School and other local educational institutions past and present.

Graduation ceremonies have customarily been held at South Church, Town Hall or on campus. Female graduates in 19th- and early 20th-century Andover wore white gowns in the style of the period for the big event while their male counterparts wore suits or dark blazers and white trousers. Local schools such as Punchard and Abbot did not adopt academic caps and gowns until the mid-20th century and Phillips Academy has never adopted them.

The Andover Historical Society, located at 97 Main St., is open from 9 to 5, Monday through Friday and Wednesday evenings until 8:30 pm. There is a small fee for the exhibition and noontime gallery talk. Call 475-2236 for more information.

Understanding Chiropractic

by Mark F. DeLorenzo, D.C.

SIMILAR FINDINGS, OCEANS APART

Two studies seem to indicate that chiropractic treatment has greater efficiency in treating back pain than traditional medical therapies. One study involved British back-pain patients. Some followed a regimen of chiropractic care of up to 10 sessions over a 30-week period, while others submitted to a variety of conventional treatments, including physical therapy, traction, exercise, and anti-inflammatory medications, for an average of 12 weeks. After only 6 weeks, those under chiropractic care showed more flexibility and better range of motion than the other patients. Even three years later, the chiropractic patients felt significantly better than those who received standard hospital care. Another study in Florida found that employees with back injuries who received conventional medical care were absent from work nearly twice as long as others treated by chiropractic.

Many people are trying chiropractic because it is safe, drug-free and non-surgical. We have been able to help many patients who have not had success with other treatments. For more information, please call DELORENZO CHIROPRACTIC GROUP, 475-5042, for an appointment. Our office is located at 15 Central St. I am presently serving as president of the Mass. Chiropractic Society.

P.S. Chiropractic treatment may take longer than more conventional therapies, but studies indicate that the benefits are longer lasting.

Persian Gulf soldiers settle in after returning here

By Don Staruk

A year ago this week Iraq invaded Kuwait and American military personnel were called for possible duty in the Persian Gulf.

The Townsmen immediately began reporting on the whereabouts of Andover residents, or friends and relatives of Andover residents, who were serving in the various branches of the military around the world and in what capacity they would take part in what started as Operation Desert Shield and became Operation Desert Storm, the Gulf War.

Between August 1990 and the end of the war in March of this year, many stories were told of who was being called up, where they were being sent and what they were doing there. As a closure to those stories, the Townsmen this week attempted to reach some of those military personnel to learn how they did during the war and find out where they are today. Some of those answers are noted here, others will be reported on in later Townsmen.

Abdoo, Cpl. Earl, 22, son of Mitchell and Carol Abdoo, of 6 Argyle St., a 1986 graduate of Andover High School, was in the Marine infantry of the 2nd Reconnaissance Battalion, Bravo Company, based in Camp Lejeune, N.C.

He arrived in Saudi Arabia on Dec. 18, 1990, and was on the front lines of the Saudi/Kuwait border ground forces.

"A week from Friday he's going to be out of the Marine Corp. after four years," his mother said Tuesday night.

"We're excited," Mrs. Abdoo said. "It's been an exciting four years."

Her son has served in Norway, the Persian Gulf and off the coast of Liberia.

"I think he's got about four-and-a-half rows of medals," his mother said.

Cpl. Abdoo is back at Camp Lejeune and will remain there until he gets out of the service Aug. 16.

He will enter Bridgewater State College in the fall as a sophomore engineering student. He had completed his freshman year at Merrimack College before joining the Marines.

Babineau, Lance Cpl. Charles P., 22, a 1987 AHS graduate and the son of Charles and Anita Babineau, of 24 Brechin Terrace, is a member of the 2nd Marine Division, also based in Camp Lejeune, N.C., and was on the Iwo Jima, an amphibious assault ship, heading into the Persian Gulf on Jan. 12, 1991.

"My brother is on base in Camp Lejeune, N.C., and between Aug. 8-14 they are shipping him out to Okinawa, Japan, for a few months," his brother, Dallas, said Tuesday.

Cpl. Babineau is married and lives in Jackson, N.C., with his wife, Tessie, who had a son, Scott, on Jan. 31 of this year.

Cpl. Babineau's parents were in North Carolina this week babysitting for their grandson to give their son and his wife some time to themselves before he leaves for Japan for two to three months of training.

Campbell, Marine 1st Lieutenant Scott K., 25, is a Marine aviator, 3rd Marine Air Wing, based in El Toro, Calif. His wife, Lisa, is the daughter of Jim and M. Pete Dorsey, of 16 Tiffany Lane. On Jan. 16, he was on standby for possible service in the Persian Gulf.

Lisa's brother, Matt, said this week that Lt. Campbell was not called on for service in the Gulf and the couple remain in California with their two children.

Carter, Captain Wesley, 45, of 34 Brady Loop, a member of the Air Force Reserve, was called to duty in the Pentagon in August, 1990, and deployed to the Persian Gulf in January of 1991. He sent a photo and letter to the Townsmen in March after hostilities ended and he was preparing for the trip home.

"He's out of the service now and he's looking for employment," Jessica Carter, his wife, said this week. "He's been out since the latter part of May."

Mr. Carter was a marketing manager and Andover chiropractor uses moving X-rays

By Lisa Boudreau

Video fluoroscopy, or a series of moving X-rays on video tape, is the latest diagnostic tool in chiropractic medicine. Andover chiropractor Mark DeLorenzo is making the most of this technology to treat his patients.

"It takes a lot of the guess work out of reading static X-rays and it helps in diagnosing where corrections in the vertebrae need to be made," said Dr. DeLorenzo, who is president of the Massachusetts Chiropractic Society.

Last fall, he and members of a chiropractic group involved in research and fluoroscopy training, purchased a video fluoroscopy unit that is now at his 15 Central St. office. In addition, Dr. DeLorenzo recently received board certification in video fluoroscopy.

The machine, including the equipment to copy the X-ray images onto VHS tapes, cost about $100,000, he said.

Andover residents were recently elected officers and directors of New England Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

The next meeting is scheduled for Monday, Sept. 9. Auxiliary membership is open throughout the year.

Video fluoroscopy is a complement to hard-copy traditional X-rays, not a replacement, according to Dr. DeLorenzo. Static X-rays are needed to diagnose cancerous and other tumors.

"We are light years ahead of most chiropractic offices because of this machine. It emits one-fourth the amount of radiation a static X-ray does and it reduces the need for more X-rays down the road," he said.

"The body is a moving dynamic structure and video fluoroscopy helps us better understand it," he said.

A patient stands in front of the machine and as he moves his neck up and down, an X-ray of the bones in his neck and back are recorded. The whole procedure takes less than one minute, Dr. DeLorenzo said.

Information regarding membership or activities is available from the auxiliary office located adjacent to the volunteer office on the lower floor of the Ruble Building. The telephone number is 979-3845. Upcoming events include the fall fashion show and Christmas Holly Fair.

The auxiliary is also working with the Friends of the Stone Zoo to reopen the zoo.

Exchangette Club donates funds to Elder Services

Elaine Mangione, immediate past president of the Greater Lawrence Exchangette Club, recently presented $1,000 to Rosanne J. DiStefano, executive director of Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley Inc., for the Elder Care Fund.

This is the second year members of the Greater Lawrence Exchangette Club have donated funds to assist elders living in this area. During the past year more than 25 elders have received assistance with a variety of needs, such as a refrigerator, stove, bed and mattress, medications for one month, food, wheelchair and toaster.

The Elder Care Fund has provided heavy chore, transportation and moving services. Each situation is handled individually and all sources of assistance are reviewed before funds from the Elder Care Fund are used, Ms. DiStefano said. Requests for assistance should be directed to the Elder Services information and referral department.

College offers courses designed to keep up with difficult economy

Difficult economic times require creative approaches to job-search strategies. Middlesex Community College's open campus will offer a variety of new short-term career-related courses designed to address the needs of those considering a career change.

"Early Retirement: Crisis or Opportunity?" will begin Wednesday evening, Sept. 11, at the Burlington campus. The workshop is designed for those who have been forced into early retirement due to the slowing economy or who are considering taking advantage of an early retirement plan. Certified financial planner Donna Doucette will help participants assess their financial options.

"Books Are Us! Careers for Wordsmiths, Bookworms and Other Litterateurs" is designed for those with a passion for books who are in search of a new career direction. Instructor Jean Bancroft will explore job opportunities with publishers, in academia, think tanks and other settings. The one-session course will meet Tuesday, Sept. 24, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Eva Glaser and Erika Tauber, principals in the Lexington public relations firm of Words and Images, will offer instruction on how to plan, design and present effective workshops Wednesday, Sept. 25, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Other workshops schedule for October include "Making It in Broadcasting," "Preparing for Career Opportunities in the Environmental Business Sector" and "How to Profit in Tough Times through an Effective Customer-Service Strategy."

Middlesex will also offer a series of career search seminars. Experts will discuss career-search strategies, resource materials and approaches to job hunting. The first workshops, "Where are the Jobs?" will be held Tuesday, Oct. 1.

For more information on these programs, call the open campus at 937-5454, Ext. 3240.

Restaurant honored

The Boston Marriott Andover's Parkside Sea Grill restaurant recently won the attention of The Boston Globe restaurant reviewer Kimberly Baker, placing the restaurant among the best seafood restaurants north of Boston.

Billed as the premier seafood restaurant in the Merrimack Valley, the 95-seat, family-style Parkside Sea Grill was credited as having an extensive seafood menu, efficient, courteous and prompt waitstaff and relatively inexpensive prices.

Heidi DiRienzo had just given birth to a healthy baby girl. Easily. And naturally. At a time of such happiness, what more could a woman need? A lot more, in Heidi's case. More doctors. More blood. More emergency care than anyone had anticipated as a postpartum hemorrhage suddenly changed a moment of joy to one of great risk. Fortunately, Heidi couldn't have been in better hands.

The New England Memorial obstetrical team is a finely-tuned group of specialists trained to handle complications with crucial speed, coordinating every move to assist and support one another. Together, they turned a life-threatening crisis around. The ample supply of blood and the presence of a full-time on-staff anesthesiologist were also vital factors in Heidi's swift stabilization.

Naturally, we wish you an easy, uncomplicated labor and hope the only aspects of our OB or midwifery programs you need to experience are our caring professionals and comforting setting - complete with warming lights and therapeutic whirlpool baths. It's reassuring to know, however, that when every second counts, you can count on us. And Heidi DiRienzo is living proof.

Fire doused at Gillette

Residue in antiperspirant storage tank catches fire

By Don Staruk

A fire in a 1,000-gallon antiperspirant storage tank at The Gillette Co., at 30 Burt Road, Tuesday afternoon was quickly extinguished by a fire protection system at the plant, Deputy Fire Chief James Lynch said Wednesday morning.

Employees at the company had drained the tank to do some welding to it, but had not cleaned out the residue. Fumes from the residue of alcohol and silicone in the mixture ignited at about 1:25 p.m., knocking the cover off the tank and setting fire to approximately an inch of the antiperspirant in the bottom of it.

The mixing room was evacuated and employees at the plant manually triggered a fire protection system to douse the flames.

The fire protection system operates much like a sprinkler system, according to Deputy Lynch, except that it dumps carbon dioxide on the fire instead of water.

"By the time we got down there all we had was a little CO2 in the area and smoke," the deputy said.

No one was injured in the mishap and the smoke and CO2 were cleared through roof vents.

"There was very little damage, even to the tank," Deputy Lynch said. "Everything worked. They're pretty safety conscious down there. They have to be."

Resident fighting car bylaw claims round-one victory

By Don Staruk

An Andover resident who is challenging a town bylaw restricting the storage of unregistered cars this week won what he considers his first victory in a long battle.

Dennis Teves, of 8 Mohawk Drive, received a letter from the state's Executive Office of Communities and Development supporting his position that the town's interpretation of the bylaw is wrong.

"Unless there exists a provision elsewhere in the bylaw to the contrary, our reading of paragraph 29 (f) would be that an unregistered motor vehicle could be stored in the open so long as it is not visible from any way or from any residential property which abuts the lot where the vehicle would be stored," wrote Donald J. Schmidt, principal land use planner at EOCD.

"Proper buffering or screening would appear to satisfy this requirement," the letter concluded.

But Mr. Schmidt also said that his opinion was only "advisory," and deferred any final decision on the matter to the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Mr. Teves is trying to change the town bylaw, or prove the building inspector's interpretation of it wrong, so he can keep his daughter's car in his yard, unregistered, while she is away at college. Sam DeSalvo, building inspector, interprets the bylaw to require unregistered vehicles be garaged, or completely out of view.

Alfred Daniels, special town counsel, last month upheld the building inspector's interpretation of the bylaw.

Gerald Silverman, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, said last month Mr. Teves would have to either see the bylaw changed or prove the building inspector's interpretation wrong if he still wanted to keep the car in his yard.

Mr. Teves was referred to EOCD by the state attorney general's office and considers the advisory opinion a small victory and he plans to take a copy of the EOCD letter back to selectmen Monday night. But he is not depending entirely on getting the interpretation changed.

Mr. Teves already has 200 names on a petition to place an article on the Town Meeting warrant that would change the bylaw to allow one unregistered car on a property. Only 100 signatures are needed to get an article on the warrant.

Buzz Stapczynski, town manager, is expected Monday night to request that the Board of Selectmen set a Special Town Meeting for Sept. 30.

Mr. Teves said this week he was worried his petition might be misinterpreted and stressed that his proposed change to the bylaw will not allow people to keep junk cars on their property.

"The intent is to have one unregistered car, not to have a junk car," Mr. Teves said.

The presence, or lack thereof, of a registration plate should not be the determining factor to define whether a car is junk, he said.

Other parts of the zoning bylaw still have sufficient protection to keep residents from having junk cars in their yards, Mr. Teves said.

Town Meeting could be Sept. 30

By Don Staruk

Buzz Stapczynski, town manager, is expected Monday night to ask selectmen for a special town meeting this fall to make $670,000 in adjustments, including some cuts, to the town budget approved last April.

"I'm going to recommend to selectmen that the meeting be called for Sept. 30 with the warrant articles due in late August," Mr. Stapczynski said Wednesday morning.

The state advised the town last month that it would be getting $670,000 less in state aid than had been expected, or at least hoped for.

Mr. Stapczynski and Tony Torrisi, budget and finance director, are trying to close out fiscal year 1991, which ended June 30, in order to figure how much of the $670,000 can be reappropriated from other accounts, and how much needs to be cut.

Mr. Torrisi was on vacation this week and the town manager could not say on Wednesday morning where cuts would be recommended in the budget.

"I will have a little bit better handle Monday night," Mr. Stapczynski said.

Bob Lague's 17th NEA meeting is his scariest Local educators at convention

Two members of the Andover Education Association were delegates to the National Education Association's annual convention in Miami, Fla., recently.

Kerry Costello, a special-needs teacher at West Middle School, and Robert Lague, who teaches music and drama at Andover High School, represented both the town's association and the northeast region of Massachusetts. They were elected by an all-member mail ballot to the region.

Mr. Lague also served as the official organist for the convention, his second appearance in that role.

This was the 17th national convention overall for Mr. Lague, who had a scary trip back to the Miami airport on his way home.

"I guess I went one or two blocks too far and stopped at a light," he said, and his car was surrounded by a group of about 10, who were trying to open the doors.

"I just bolted out of there," said Mr. Lague, who added that the convention delegates had been warned to keep their car doors locked. "Miami was a nice place, but I was happy to get out of there."

While at the convention, delegates re-elected President Keith Geiger and Vice President Bob Chase and members of the executive committee. They also voted on bylaw amendments, approved the budget and debated more than 100 new business items.

The association's most prestigious award, the Friend of Education, was given to Alan Page, Minnesota attorney general and former Minnesota Viking football player.

Mr. Geiger's keynote address proposed a children's bill of rights that would guarantee every child adequate food, shelter, medical care, protection and quality education.

"I can guarantee that schools are improving," he said. "It's childhoods that are not."

The 9,000-plus delegates took stands on several controversial issues being proposed nationally to improve education. Many of them, such as national standardized testing, school choice and merit pay, are viewed as politically divisive by the delegates.

They also voted to recognize retiring Supreme Court Justices William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall for their contributions to the protection of civil rights. They also voted to oppose the nomination of Clarence Thomas. The delegates raised more than $400,000 for the association's political action committee.

The 1992 convention will be held in Washington, D.C. Many delegates want President Bush address them on the progress of his education agenda.

Academy students named to honor roll

Phillips Academy named its honor roll students for the spring term. To get on the honor roll, students have to maintain at least a 5-point grade average on a 6-point scale.

They are Yoonhee Ahn, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Geunghwan Ahn; Rachel D.S. Antony, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hollenbeck; Ivan C. Barry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald T. Barry; Phillip K. Hospital volunteers honored

Northern Essex College freshmen named to business honor society gets grant to help students

Northern Essex Community College received a $172,223 federal grant that will be used to develop a multi-faceted plan of assistance to low-income, physically challenged and first-generation college students.

The grant, funded through the U.S. Department of Education's student support services program, has been awarded to Northern Essex for 10 consecutive years.

This year's allocation represents a significant increase over past grants in response to Northern Essex's ongoing expansion of special-services programs.

John R. Dimitry, president of Northern Essex, outlined the importance of the grant.

"Northern Essex has a long tradition of providing support services for disadvantaged students," he said. "This grant will enable us to provide the additional programs and encouragement which many of these students need in order to succeed."

Goals of the plan include strengthening basic skills instruction; developing and were nominated for the National Business Honor Society, an organization that encourages business students to seek excellence in their business courses.

The group, which is sponsored by the National Catholic Business Education Association, promotes scholarship and interest in business.

Membership is based on scholarship and professional attitude. The pair have to maintain a certain grade point average to become full members next year.

implementing tutorial support services; offering ongoing financial aid and registration assistance and individual first-semester academic progress evaluations; and training college faculty and staff members to better aid disadvantaged students in motivation, decision-making and career selection.

New to this year's program is a "transfer and initiative component," designed to encourage students to continue their educational pursuits at four-year colleges and universities.

The program will service 250 students, each of whom will be given an individualized plan of study.

Depending on the student, plans may include one or more basic skills courses, content area courses complemented by tutorial assistance, personal counseling, and/or workshops on study skills, motivation and academic commitment.

Six residents graduate from Pingree School

Six Andover seniors graduated from Pingree School in South Hamilton.

Matthew Snyder Adams, son of Peter and Josette Adams, was a member of the varsity ice hockey team. He was named the outstanding offensive player and was selected as an All-Star by the New England Prep School Ice Hockey Association. Mr. Adams will attend Merrimack College.

Heather Elizabeth Bryce, daughter of Claud and Joan Marchessault, co-captained the varsity soccer and girls' ice hockey teams and competed on the softball team as well. She served as editor in chief of the school newspaper and worked on the student life committee, Big Buddies program and in student government.

As a junior, Ms. Bryce received the Wellesley Book Award, which honors a student with exceptional academic record and character who has made significant personal contributions to the school and/or community. She will attend St. Lawrence University.

Steven Gordon Mollineaux, son of George and Jean Mollineaux, was a three-season varsity athlete, competing on the soccer, basketball and baseball teams. Co-captain for both baseball and basketball, he was voted most valuable player in basketball and named to the Eastern League All-Star teams in both sports. Mr. Mollineaux also worked on the school newspaper. He will attend the University of Massachusetts.

Suzanne Margaret O'Brien, daughter of William and Elizabeth O'Brien, was a member of the Cum Laude Society, the yearbook staff and the world issues group. A four-year varsity lacrosse player, Ms. O'Brien was this year's co-captain. She also played varsity soccer. Earlier this year, she wrote an essay on NATO, which was published in the Concord Review. She will attend Colgate University.

Jennifer Anne Rosman, daughter of Lowell and Jane Rosman, was a member of the student life committee and the social concerns group. She also played on the varsity soccer team, performed in several school musical theater productions and took flying lessons as an independent project. Ms. Rosman will attend Brandeis University.

Eric Carl Stapfer, son of Adrian and Maureen Stapfer, worked on the school newspaper and served on the technical crew of school theater productions. In addition to studying French at Pingree, Mr. Stapfer attended Deutsche Sannabendschule for two years to study German. He will attend the University of Tampa.

Preschools register kids

West Parish Nursery School, located at West Parish Church, 129 Reservation Road, is continuing to accept applications for September's programs.

Class sessions are Monday through Wednesday or Monday through Thursday, from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The 31-year-old nursery school is independent, non-profit and non-sectarian. The curriculum includes a large variety of creative crafts, cooking and science activities.

To receive information and an application, call the school's registrar at 470-3957.

Cuddle Care Day Care is also accepting enrollments for its kindergarten classes. The full-day program is held from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., with optional care from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. The school is open during regular school vacations.

The additional school time enables students to explore subjects of interest in depth, said director Gwen Hedrick.

"Our small class makes it possible to understand each child's individual needs," Ms. Hedrick said.

Activities encompass all areas of learning: social, emotional, physical and intellectual, she added.

Kindergarten teacher Diane Norton has had many years of teaching experience in kindergarten and first grade.

Prospective students are invited to visit the school. For more information, call Ms. Hedrick at 470-3122.

Wendy Venti of Bradford and Susan Siegel of Andover solicit ideas for The Mother Connection's children's activity book. The group hopes to see the book in print next spring.

Moms' group needs ideas for kids' book

The Mother Connection went right to the source for ideas for its forthcoming children's activity book: its 400-plus members.

About eight women held the recent phonathon at the Andover office of Hunne-man/Coldwell Banker Real Estate on Park Street.

Featuring entertaining pastimes for children up to age 8, the group's book is scheduled to be released next spring to coincide with The Mother Connection's 10th anniversary.

The callers got lots of good ideas, said Linda Beg, the group's publicity director.

One mother suggested a pretend visit to the beauty salon, where the child is the beautician and mom is the customer. The child could rub lotion on the "customer's" arms and legs, making the activity "fun for the child and relaxing for mom," Ms. Beg said.

"It didn't have to be anything fancy, as long as it was fun," she said.

The Mother Connection is still looking for suggestions of activity ideas from both members and non-members, who may contact Elizabeth Foy of 30 Village Green in North Andover.

The Andover-based Mother Connection is a non-profit organization offering a variety of programs and services such as support groups, workshops, field trips, toy and baby-sitting cooperatives and referrals.

Membership in TMC includes new, working, older and adoptive parents. Child-care providers and grandparents may also join the group. For information call 470-1500.

Trivia Contest

Use today's newspaper to come up with questions for a trivia contest that you can play at home with your family.

Examples: What was the score of last night's baseball game? How hot did it get in your town yesterday? How much are carrots at the supermarket? What movie is now showing at the theater?

You can use these questions within any trivia board game you may have at home. Or you can create a quiz show patterned after your favorite television game show.

Don't forget to complete the entry form below as soon as you have met the requirements of the challenge.

The Andona Society awarded four scholarships to Andover graduates.

Aside from the contributions the Andona Society makes throughout the year to local youth groups and organizations, the society also helps students further their educational and career goals through scholarships, said Andona President Mary Ellen Johnson.

The recipients this year are Chris Battles, Craig Der Ananian, Matthew Maracle and Julia Worcester.

Chris Battles, son of Richard and Linda Battles of 27 Abbot Bridge Drive, graduated from Andover High School. He will attend the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Va., in the fall.

Craig Der Ananian, a graduate of Phillips Academy, will study at Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y. His parents are Souran and Gail Der Ananian.

Matthew Maracle, son of David and Linda Maracle of 4 Apollo Circle, will attend New Hampshire Vocational-Technical College in Manchester, N.H.

Andover High alumna Julia Worcester of 35 Dascomb Road is the daughter of Charles and Barbara Worcester. She will pursue her education at Princeton University in Princeton, N.J.

The scholarship awards totaled $5,500. They were presented by Ms. Johnson and Joan Duff, civic committee chairwoman.

Resident receives chemistry award at Trinity College

Laura X. Bicknell, a senior at Trinity College in Hartford, Conn., has been named the Vernon K. Kriebel Scholar by the college's department of chemistry.

This award is given by Loctite Corp. in Newington, Conn., in memory of Dr. Vernon K. Kriebel, a former Trinity chemistry professor and founder of Loctite.

The Trinity College Bulletin says that the one-year, full tuition scholarship is given to a "student majoring in the department of chemistry who has demonstrated outstanding scholastic achievement and who, in the opinion of the department staff, offers promise of making a significant contribution to the profession of chemistry."

This summer Ms. Bicknell is working in the field of organic chemistry at Trinity with a research grant awarded to her by Pfizer Corp. in Groton, Conn.

The 1988 graduate of Andover High School is the daughter of Bob and Dorie Bicknell of 41 Farrwood Drive.

Andover heads to college

Two Andover students will enter Bates College in Lewiston, Maine, as first-year students.

Tina M. Mosca, daughter of Gertraud and Michael Mosca of 44 Pleasant St., is a graduate of Phillips Academy. She was a member of the cycling team and the Earthfriends environmental group and was involved in theater and outdoor activities.

Timothy E. Haarmann Jr., son of Renate and Timothy Haarmann of 18 Wyncrest Drive, is a graduate of Middlesex School in Concord. He was a member of the football, wrestling and lacrosse teams and was active in student government and the Current Events Club.

Sonja E. Behling, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Helmut H. Behling of 24 Blueberry Hill Road, will attend Dickinson College as a member of the class of 1995.

Alison Greene and Jennifer Reese, June graduates of Andover High School, have been accepted at Green Mountain College in Poultney, Vt., for the fall semester. Ms. Greene is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Greene, and Ms. Reese is the daughter of Margaret Reese.

William S. Henderson of Andover has been accepted at Vermont Technical College in Randolph Center, Vt., for the fall semester.

Mr. Henderson, who graduated from Andover High School in June, will major in automotive technology.

He is the son of Catherine and William Henderson.

Edward J. Owens, a 1991 graduate of Lawrence Academy in Groton, will attend the University of Lowell in September. He will be a member of the university's varsity hockey team.

Mr. Owens, who formerly attended Andover High, was a two-year varsity hockey player and captain of the Lawrence Academy hockey team.

He is the son of Edward and Patricia Owens of Azalea Drive.

Christina Zappala, daughter of Alfred G. Zappala of 20 Wabanaki Way, will attend Wellesley College in Wellesley as a member of the class of 1995.

She is a June graduate of Andover High, where she was secretary of Students Against Drunk Driving, a member of the community service board of directors and secretary of the National Honor Society.

Liberal with a Big "L"

Webster's calls the liberal arts "the studies in a college or university intended to provide chiefly general knowledge and to develop the general intellectual capacities." The liberal person is "broad-minded, tolerant, not bound by authoritarianism." And the AT&T study of career paths found that liberal arts graduates got more promotions and took on more responsibility than graduates in business and engineering.

At Merrimack you learn how to learn, read widely and critically, think about options and solutions, and develop intellectual breadth and judgment. And you enjoy studies with a vibrant faculty and excited, motivated classmates. Check out the Bachelor of Arts at Merrimack College. You may find just the right mix of traditional and contemporary studies to educate you for personal and professional success.

Preschoolers fight cystic fibrosis

A total of $1,333.25 was raised by the Early Childhood Learning Center in North Andover in a recent benefit for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

"We had tremendous response," said Betty Leeman, parent volunteer and chairwoman of the event. "The money raised for the foundation is indicative of the willingness of the people here to help others."

In 1989 scientists discovered the gene that causes cystic fibrosis. And in 1990, researchers were able to correct CF cells in laboratory dishes. This year holds the promise of more groundbreaking research as science continues to move forward, Ms. Leeman said.

Funds raised by concerned groups such as the ECLC Learning Center are accelerating the pace of medical breakthroughs and bring researchers closer to making the dream of a cure a reality for the 30,000 people with cystic fibrosis, said acting campaign director Vickie Barker.

Preschoolers from Andover who participated in the fund-raiser are Evelyn Spiegel, Lea Ventura, Christie Williams, Amanda Treretola, Shir Moshe, Jennifer DePiano, Arron Chafe, Alex Day, Elizabeth Taggart, Yogan Patel, Allison Nill and Daniel Murphy.

Day-care centers host summer festival

Bright Horizons Children's Center will hold its Summer Discovery Festival Saturday, Aug. 17, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Andover locations participating in the festival are at 400 Brickstone Square and 15 New England Business Center Drive.

Youngsters and their families can participate in face painting, games, arts and crafts, bubble making and storytelling.

The person who wins the child-care center's raffle will get a session with photographer Roger Pelissier.

Another raffle will feature educational toys.

Area health-care professionals and community organizations will also be on hand to share parenting tips and information.

For more information on the festival or the child-care centers, call Bright Horizons at 475-7122 or 682-3880.

July, 1991

Dear Depositor:

Just about a year ago, for the first time in my banking career, I thought it appropriate to write an advisory letter to you. I find current economic conditions merit a similar letter at this time.

The banking industry in the United States is in the worst condition it has ever been in, including the Depression Era. The S & L industry has placed a multi-billion dollar burden on the United States taxpayer. The entire banking industry is still having serious asset quality problems. Congress is struggling to cope with the multitude of problems caused by bank failures.

I WANT TO TAKE THIS OPPORTUNITY TO TELL YOU ABOUT YOUR BANK - THE SAVINGS BANK

The Savings Bank has been serving the local community for 122 years (since 1869). It is a Mutual Savings Bank, and, as such, The Savings Bank is owned by its depositors. The Savings Bank's reserve capital for "rainy day" emergencies is 12 1/2% - $34,000,000.00 - more than twice the minimum required by Federal Regulation. In addition, for extra protection, at year end December 31, 1990, The Savings Bank had an additional $6 million dollars of unrealized profits in its security portfolio.

The Savings Bank is an extremely liquid bank which is an indication of its ability to respond to emergency market situation.

THE SAVINGS BANK'S PRIMARY PURPOSE IS THE CARE AND SAFETY OF ITS DEPOSITORS ("YOUR") DOLLARS

Very truly yours,

Andover artist exhibits work at town library

Andover artist Elaine P. Meisinger will exhibit her work at Memorial Hall Library during the month of August.

Ms. Meisinger, who is also a teacher, graduated from Chestnut Hill College in Philadelphia, Pa., with a bachelor of arts degree. She earned her master's in education at Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pa.

After settling in New England with her husband and son, she has been able to focus on her lifelong love of drawing and painting.

Ms. Meisinger, who has studied watercolor with various artists, attended the Scottsdale Artists School in Arizona and has participated in painting workshops throughout New England. She maintains a studio in her Andover home, where she paint scenes of New England, its flowers and coast line.

Ms. Meisinger is an active member of the Andovers Artists Guild and has served as its president, board member and chairwoman of Art in The Park. She has received awards for paintings, including ribbons for the Fourth of July show in North Andover and Art in The Park in Andover.

Vanessa Hill and Tom Ste. Marie play lovelorn teen-agers in Andover Theatre Company's production of Grease. The musical continues this weekend at Dragon's Lair Playground at Bancroft Elementary School. Performances are Friday, Aug. 9, at 8 p.m. and Saturday, Aug. 10, at 2 and 8 p.m. A sock hop will precede all shows.

Club plans to watch its feathered friends

The Merrimack Valley Bird Club is planning birding trips for the late summer and fall.

The group will visit Plum Island Sunday, Aug. 18, for the fall migration of shore birds. Members will meet in Old Andover Center for car pools at 7 a.m. or at Sportsman's Restaurant in Newburyport at 7:45 a.m.

Birders should bring a picnic lunch or join others who will lunch at the Riverview. They should also bring drinks and snacks to share with others at midmorning, say leaders Sid Wilson, Dana Duxbury and Tim Walker.

The bird club will travel to Monhegan Island in Maine to observe birds in fall migration the weekend of Sept. 6-8.

Participation is on a first-come basis. Call Evelyn Retelle at 475-4412 to reserve a space. The cost of accommodations on Monhegan is $88 per person, plus tax and gratuity. This includes two nights' lodging and four meals.

A deposit of $25 per person must be sent to Ms. Retelle. The remainder of the lodging and food cost will be paid individually at the inn. Car pools are recommended for the trip to Port Clyde. Payment of the fee for the round-trip passenger ferry to the island is not included.

The Merrimack Valley Bird Club will look for hawks on Mount Wachusett Sunday, Sept. 15. The members will meet at 8:30 a.m. at Old Andover Center for car pools. Birders should bring warm clothing, as the mountain top can get cool and breezy.

After watching hawks, the group will visit Wachusett Meadow Audubon Sanctuary for a picnic lunch. Bring midmorning snacks to share and a lunch. Led by Joe Hogan and Al Retelle, the group will return in the early afternoon.

The bird club will return to Plum Island Sunday, Sept. 22, for the fall migration of shore birds. Birders will meet at Old Andover Center for car pools at 7 a.m. or at Sportsman's Restaurant in Newburyport at 7:45 a.m.

Those who can stay should bring a picnic lunch or join others for a meal at the Riverview. Participants should also bring drinks and snacks to share at midmorning. Leaders are Al Retelle and Gene Ballard.

The club will visit the Great Meadows Wildlife Refuge in Concord Sunday, Oct. 6. The birders will gather for car pools in Old Andover Center at 1 p.m. Then they'll go back to Fred and Mary Arakelian's at 12 Brentwood Circle for a potluck supper at about 5:30 p.m.

The leaders of the Concord trip will be Dana Duxbury and Bill Headley.

The bird club will celebrate the holidays with a social at the Wilsons' house at 26 Cheever Circle Andover Sunday, Dec. 8. The members will break into three groups at 8 a.m. and bird until 11. On returning to the Wilsons', they'll compare lists and share cookies.

Club dues are $3 for a single membership or $5 for a family. For more information on the club or its activities, call Dana Duxbury at 475-8881.

Doc Hollywood's medicine goes down easy

By M.E. Sullivan

Doc Hollywood is one of the easiest movies of the summer - easy to sit through, and even easier to forget. Michael J. Fox's latest role is a young surgeon from Washington, D.C. His Dr. Benjamin Stone gets stranded in a rural South Carolina village while en route to a high-profile position as a plastic surgeon in Beverly Hills.

The film professes to be a romantic comedy, as the doctor falls for Violula, the town's ambulance driver. Yet, under the low-key direction of Michael Caton-Jones (Scandal), the eccentric locals and mundane events of life in a small town dominate the picture.

Although the movie is fairly painless to sit through, it's not much worth it either. David Ogden Stiers, who played Major Charles Winchester on *M*A*S*H*, is adequate as the town mayor. Woody Harrelson of Cheers fame, however, is great in the role of the gum-chewing insurance salesman.

With a sort of savvy sophistication that Andy Griffith's Mayberry never even dreamed of, Mr. Caton-Jones's Grady, S.C., ("the squash capital of the South") is more like Green Acres meets the Twilight Zone. Electricity and running water are not new inventions here, where Violula gave up tending bar on Manhattan's Upper West Side to move home and Melvin the mechanic has an IBM personal computer in his garage.

Mr. Caton-Jones's direction shows potential as he overlooks most of the ordinary clichés of small-town life, the only problem is that there's just nothing special about Doc Hollywood. For a really hilarious depiction of a small town, skip this one and rent Local Hero instead.

WEDDINGS AND ENGAGEMENTS

Charles and Betsy Raymond

Couple marries at South Church

Betsy B. White, daughter of David and Priscilla White of Talbot Road, and Charles P. Raymond, son of Marjorie Raymond and the late Clifford Raymond of Meredith, N.H., were married April 20.

The Rev. Dr. Calvin F. Mutti performed the ceremony at South Church, where he is senior pastor.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Barbara White of Andover, as maid of honor. Her bridesmaids were Elizabeth Raymond of Meredith, niece of the groom; Lisa Michael of East Freetown; Anne Marie Conron of Danvers; and Barbara McNeil of Beverly.

The bride's cousins, Amanda and Jennifer Barcelos of Atkinson, N.H., were flower girls.

William Raymond of Meredith was his brother's best man. Serving as ushers were Evan Miele of Medford, nephew of the groom; John McKinnon Jr. of Pawtucket, R.I.; Robert DeGroot of Haverhill; and David W. White of Methuen, brother of the bride.

After a reception at Castleton in Windham, N.H., the couple took a wedding trip to Austria.

The bride, a graduate of Andover High School and Fitchburg State College, is a retail sales and marketing assistant at J.W. Daly Inc. in Peabody.

The groom is an alumnus of Stoneham High School and the University of Maine at Orono. He is a sales associate at Taxikon in Woburn.

The couple lives in Andover.

Couple exchanges vows

Margit Caroline Hentschel, daughter of Manfred and Gretel Hentschel of Lawrence, Kan., and Craig Victor Duxbury, son of Victor and Dana Duxbury of Andover, were married in Danforth Chapel at the University of Kansas in Lawrence June 15.

The bride graduated from the University of Florida with a bachelor of science degree in agriculture. She currently works for Walt Disney World in Orlando, Fla., as an environmental engineer responsible for hazardous waste regulatory compliance.

The groom has a bachelor of science in biology from the University of Vermont. He recently left the Water Quality Laboratory of the Reedy Creek Improvement District (Walt Disney's World's governing body), where he was a senior environmental associate.

He will begin work on his master's degree in water quality at Colorado State University in Fort Collins late this summer.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Duxbury worked previously at The Land in Disney's EPCOT Center in Florida.

manages a wholesale nursery in Linwood, Kan.

The groom's mother is an environmental consultant and established her own firm, Dana Duxbury and Associates, as well as the non-profit Waste Watch Center in Andover. His father is a vice president of Ames Textiles Corp. in Lowell.

Former resident marries in N.H.

Dorothy Faith Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Nelson of Moultonborough, N.H., formerly of Andover, and Robert Michael Boyan III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Boyan Jr., also of Moultonborough, were married June 1.

The Rev. David Svenson performed the ceremony at the Moultonborough Methodist Church.

The bride was attended by Myriam (Tambasco) Pearson of Tamworth, N.H., formerly of Andover. Her bridesmaids were Michelle Frank of Richmond, Va., formerly of Andover, and Colleen McNamara of Laconia, N.H.

John R. Nelson, the bride's brother, was the groom's best man. Ushers were Carl Cleary of Center Harbor, N.H., and John Boyan of Lowell.

The bride wore a gown of champagne satin designed with a fitted bodice, full skirt and chapel-length train. The headpiece was an antique satin barrette worn by her mother at her own wedding. The bride carried an arrangement of orchids, baby's breath and ivy.

Robert and Dorothy Nelson III

After a dinner reception at the Suissevale Clubhouse in Moultonborough, the couple honeymooned on a southern Caribbean cruise.

Both the bride, an alumna of Andover High School, and the groom, a graduate of Moultonborough Academy, graduated from Plymouth State College.

They are counselors with victims of traumatic brain injury at the New MediCo Highwatch Rehabilitation Center.

Alison W. Leshan Brian W. Garside

David and Mary Leshan of Fort Washington, Pa., announce the engagement of their daughter, Alison Williams, to Brian W. Garside, son of Thomas and Patricia Garside of Andover.

Ms. Leshan graduated from Lesley College and is a psychiatric aide at Northwestern Institute in Philadelphia, Pa.

Her fiancé, who graduated from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, is a teacher at Young Friends Learning Center in Philadelphia.

Margaret O'Connor Mark Fitzpatrick

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence B. O'Connor of Arlington announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Mary, to Mark A. Fitzpatrick of Andover and Pelham, N.H.

Miss O'Connor is a graduate of Newton Country Day School, Skidmore College and Vermont Law School. She is employed by Safety Insurance Co. in Boston.

Her fiancé attended Andover High School and works at Charles C. Towne Transportation Co. in Methuen.

A September wedding is planned.

Daughters of Penelope turns 20

Pallas Chapter #330 Daughters of Penelope, the women's auxiliary of the Order of American Hellenic Education Progressive Association, recently celebrated the 20th anniversary of the local chapter.

Although the organization was founded 62 years ago, the Greater Lawrence chapter was not formed until 1971, when it became the 13th chapter in the Massachusetts Bay State District #8. More than 500 chapters are sprinkled throughout the United States, Canada, the Bahamas and Greece.

Elaine Kevgas of Methuen, founder of the local chapter and charter member, served as district governor of Bay State District #8 before her election to the Grand Lodge, where she served every office, culminating in her election as grand president of the international organization.

The local chapter meets the first Thursday of every month at Sts. Constantine and Helen Church, 71 Chandler Road.

During its month-long 20th-anniversary celebration, the chapter held a dinner at Spyros Restaurant in North Andover where members presented immediate past president Nicky Stamoulis a gift. The chapter also hosted a Sunday brunch after a church liturgy for the parishioners.

During the brunch, the group presented a stainless steel commercial refrigerator to Sts.

Constantine and Helen as an anniversary gift. In addition, the members contributed to a commercial freezer for the church kitchen in conjunction with the flea market pastry committee and the Order of AHEPA.

A highlight of the brunch was the announcement of the Penelope of the Year. This year's Penelope is Katherine Kevgas, a charter member of the chapter, who has served every office during the past 20 years, including president for eight years. She currently serves as treasurer.

Mrs. Kevgas has served as a delegate to the past 20 district and national conventions and has served on district and national committees. She was presented with the local Penelope of the Year Pin.

At the New England regional convention held recently at the Seacrest in Falmouth, Mrs. Kevgas was the recipient of the District Penelope of the Year.

Her name has been submitted for the National Penelope of the Year, who will be announced at the national convention later this year.

Katherine Korizis is president of the organization's Pallas Chapter. Her officers are Despina Mastorakis, vice president; Katherine Kambourakis, recording secretary; Elaine Kevgas, corresponding secretary; and Katherine Kevgas, treasurer.

Exhibit shows how buildings get saved from wrecking ball

Northern Essex Community College is hosting an exhibit that traces through vintage photographs and explanatory text the rescue of old buildings from destruction and decay.

"Remaking America: New Uses, Old Places," will be on display in the Haverhill campus library gallery through Aug. 23.

The past decade has seen an increase in the efforts of builders, developers and cities to reclaim old buildings.

"Remaking America" offers a look at the adaptive reuse movement, a program that finds appropriate purposes for buildings other than what the original designers planned.

Instead of tearing down old buildings, developers are being encouraged to renew buildings that seem to have outlasted their original use - old warehouses, market places, railroad stations and transform them into modern spaces for working, playing, shopping and living.

The Northern Essex exhibit recounts with 48 "then" and "now" photography panels the redevelopment of once grand buildings into art museums, shopping malls, law firms and low-income housing.

Among the examples depicted in the exhibition is Bulfinch

Square in East Cambridge, once the Middlesex County Courthouse, which was planned for demolition in 1973 to make room for a parking lot and now houses offices, a restaurant, gallery and theater.

The gallery is open Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m. For weekday hours or more information on this exhibit, call Arthur Signorelli, the gallery coordinator, at 374-3921.

College organizes building tour

In conjunction with the exhibit "Remaking America: New Uses, Old Places," Northern Essex Community College will host a program highlighting the historic buildings of downtown Haverhill.

This free program begins Saturday, Aug. 17, at 10 a.m. in the Haverhill campus gallery with Downtowns for People, a video that examines American and European downtown areas from the view of pedestrians.

The video will be followed by a walking tour of downtown Haverhill, discussing the city's historical buildings and restoration projects.

This is the best program we have seen in the computer and information sciences area. Industry recruiters and professionals in computer science helped design the curriculum. We also used the Association for Computing Machinery (ACM) curriculum guidelines and the Carnegie Mellon study of the ideal undergraduate computer science curriculum. We reviewed the curriculum at 19 other colleges. We designed the best Computer and Information Sciences program for Merrimack College to make our graduates valued and competitive in the work place.

In addition to the core of required computer courses and major electives, all Computer and Information Science majors at Merrimack College have a minor in Business Administration, Mathematics or Electrical Engineering to provide knowledge of the environment in which the computer scientist will work.

Call (508) 837-5101 for an appointment with the dean, assistant dean or academic advisor. We are open from 8:30 am to 10 pm, Monday through Thursday; from 8:30 am to 3 pm on Friday. Classes begin September 4.

William L. McDonald, 82 Teacher, coach

William L. McDonald, 82, of New Boston, N.H., a former teacher and coach in Andover, died Friday, Aug. 2, at Greenbriar Terrace Health Care Center in New Boston.

Mr. McDonald was born in Andover May 3, 1909. He graduated from Punchard High School and received his master's degree in education from Boston College. He received a certificate for art and architecture from the University of Brussels, Belgium, in 1938 and attended Tufts University.

An educator for many years, Mr. McDonald taught and coached at Punchard High and was a teacher and assistant principal at Andover Junior High School.

He was also a professor at the University of Lowell and Northeastern University in Boston where he lectured in criminology. Mr. McDonald was coordinator of the Criminal Justice programs at Champlain College in Burlington, Vt., and introduced correctional courses at Castleton State College in Castleton, Vt., and in several cities in the United States.

Mr. McDonald was a U.S. Navy veteran of World War II and served as a lieutenant on the staff of the Adm. Nimitz aircraft carrier in the Pacific. He later served as a communications officer on the cruiser USS Pasadena.

From 1947 to 1950, Mr. McDonald was a special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He was a former manager of the Burns International Detective Agency and a former master and keeper of the Middlesex County House of Correction and Jail for nine years.

Mr. McDonald was a former district deputy of the Knights of Columbus of Boston/North Shore; past executive member of the Boy Scouts of America; and member and past commander of the Andover American Legion Post.

He also belonged to the Former Agents of the FBI and the National Crime and Delinquency Council. He was a past executive board member of the National Jail and Sheriffs Association.

He was the son of the late Frank and Lillian M. (Welch) McDonald and husband of the late Marie F. McDonald, who died in 1982.

His family members include his daughters and sons-in-law, M. Patricia and Ernest Gavel of Winchester and Catherine L. and Paul L. Finnerly of New Boston; son and daughter-in-law, William F. and Irene McDonald of Vienna, Va.; grandchildren, Ernest J. and William L. Gavel of Winchester and Lisa McDonald of Vienna, Va.

A funeral was held Tuesday at Zis-Sweeney Funeral Home in New Boston, followed by a Mass of Christian burial at the Church of Immaculate Conception in New Boston.

Burial was in St. Patrick Cemetery in Hudson, N.H.

Memorial contributions may be made to Alzheimer's Disease Research, care of Development Office, Dartmouth Hitchcock Medical Center, 2 Maynard St., Hanover, N.H. 03756.

Gordon B. Cannon, 67 Retired machinist

Gordon B. Cannon, 67, of Harwich, formerly of Andover, died Thursday, Aug. 1, at Cape Cod Hospital in Hyannis.

Mr. Cannon was educated in Andover schools and lived in Andover until 1984, when he moved to Harwich.

He served with the U.S. Army in World War II and received the Purple Heart and Bronze Star for his service in the Pacific.

Mr. Cannon was an experimental machinist with Avco Co. in Wilmington where he worked on space capsules. He also worked for Rotary Machine Co. in Andover until he retired in 1984.

He was also a custodian at Harwich High School.

Mr. Cannon was a member of Pilgrim Congregational Church in Harwichport where he was a member of the church council, a deacon and usher. He belonged to Andover Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2128.

Family members include his wife, Barbara (Carley) Cannon; daughters, Patricia W. Calabrese Jr. of Sandown, N.H., and Diane E. Champy of Wakefield, N.H.; two grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.

Services were held Monday at Pilgrim Congregational Church, followed by burial in Massachusetts National Cemetery in Bourne.

Memorial contributions may be made to Scholarship Fund, Andover Post No. 2128 VFW, care of John Doherty, Bartlet Street, Andover, Mass. 01810.

Funeral arrangements were by Done, Beal and Ames Funeral Home in Harwichport.

Ethel K. Bradshaw, 87 Andover nanny

Ethel K. (Hill) Bradshaw, 87, of Lawrence, formerly of Andover, died Friday, Aug. 2, at Lowell General Hospital.

Born in Boston, she was a longtime Andover resident and worked as a nanny for several years in the Andover area.

She was a member of the Andover Baptist Church and its Friendly Circle; the Andover Mothers' Club, of which she was past president; and the Rebekah Lodge, also in Andover.

She was the widow of Thomas W. Bradshaw, and family members include her son, Robert Bradshaw of Andover; daughters, Doris M. Terry of Elizabethtown, Ky., Ruth H. Seavey of Lawrence and Frances Smith of Burlington; 10 grandchildren; and 14 great-grandchildren.

Services were held Monday at Edgerley and Bessom Andover Funeral Home. Burial was in Riverside Cemetery in North Reading.

Memorial contributions may be made to Andover Baptist Church Elevator Fund, 6 Essex St., Andover, Mass. 01810.

John J. Fleming, 69 Retired IRS tax examiner

John J. Fleming, 69, of Methuen died Saturday, Aug. 3, at his home.

Born in Lawrence, Mr. Fleming was a tax examiner for the Internal Revenue Service in Andover before his retirement in 1977.

He was an Army veteran of World War II and a member of the DAV of Lawrence.

Family members include his wife, Muriel E. (Fettes) Fleming; son and daughter-in-law, John O. and Della Fleming of Dracut; daughters and sons-in-law, Joan E. Murphy and Gail E. Fleming of Methuen, Lynn and John Markey of Pelham, N.H., and June I. Keith and Lori D. and Steven Martin of Lawrence; brother, Walter Fleming of Methuen; 11 grandchildren; a great-granddaughter; and several nieces, nephews and cousins.

OBITUARIES

Kenneth A. Newcomb, 47 21-year DPW worker

Kenneth A. Newcomb, 47, of Tewksbury, honored in June by Andover officials for his 21 years of service on the highway department, died Thursday, Aug. 1, at Holy Family Hospital in Methuen.

Mr. Newcomb, who battled cancer for three years, would have turned 48 years old Aug. 25. He worked until June and lived at home until he was hospitalized about two weeks ago.

"He had a lot of courage," said Pete Remming, his former boss at the highway department until Mr. Newcomb's retirement six weeks ago. "It was unfortunate he didn't have time to do anything."

Mr. Newcomb was born in Andover and grew up in the family home on Center Street in Ballardvale. He attended Andover schools and graduated from Lawrence High School.

He worked for Lee H. Long Associates in Wilmington and Andover Tractor before he took the job with the Andover highway department.

He told the Andover Townsman during an interview in June that he loved his job operating heavy equipment for the town before failing health forced him to retire.

"I went to work to work. They told me what to do, and I did it," he had said.

"I'd go back if the doctor said, 'You're all cured.' I'd be right back there knocking on the door. I enjoyed that job very much. I enjoyed working for the town and for the townspeople. There are a lot of good people in town."

He also spoke highly of the men with whom he worked.

"They've all been good guys," Mr. Newcomb said.

On June 13, Mr. Newcomb was given a retirement party attended by 60 of his fellow workers, union representatives and town officials.

Town Manager Buzz Stapeczynski presented Mr. Newcomb with a citation from the Board of Selectmen for his years of work for the town. He also received awards from Bob McQuade, director of the Department of Public Works, and from Union Local 1704.

Mr. Newcomb was a member of the Billerica Elks Club.

Family members include his mother, Ruth (Webb) Newcomb of Tewksbury; sons, Brian K. and Ronald C. Newcomb, both of Methuen; brothers, Harold D. and Philip C. Newcomb, both of Tewksbury; and sister, Beverly Shattuck of Tewksbury.

Funeral services were held Monday at Farmer and Dee Funeral Home in Tewksbury, followed by cremation at Linwood Crematory in Haverhill.

William J. Stewart III, 32

Raytheon employee

William James Stewart III, 32, of West Newbury died Friday, Aug. 2, at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston.

Born in Andover, he was the son of William J. and Joan F. (Casey) Stewart of West Newbury.

Mr. Stewart had lived in West Newbury for 26 years.

A 1977 graduate of Pentucket Regional High School in West Newbury, Mr. Stewart had worked on fiberglass missiles for Raytheon Co. in Andover for the past 12 years.

He was a member of the Newburyport Elks Lodge B.P.O.E. No. 909.

Besides his parents, family members include his brothers, Timothy M. Stewart of Sandown, N.H., and John P. Stewart of West Newbury; sister, Cynthia L. Noble of Bradford; paternal grandmother, Louise A. Stewart of Andover; maternal grandmother, Agnes L. Casey of Dracut; and several nieces and nephews.

A Mass was celebrated Tuesday at St. Anne Church in West Newbury with burial in Bridge Street Cemetery, also in West Newbury.

Memorial contributions may be made to Dana Farber Cancer Institute, 44 Binney St., Boston, Mass. 02115.

Funeral arrangements were by Farmer Funeral Home in Newburyport.

Dr. Siegel speaks on illness

"Cancer guru" Bernie S. Siegel will give a lecture in the Merrimack Valley in September.

Dr. Siegel, a pediatric and general surgeon who started a form of therapy for cancer patients, will talk about "The Psychology of Illness and the Art of Healing" Thursday, Sept. 19, from 7 to 9 p.m.

He will speak in the Methuen High School assembly hall, 1 Ranger Road.

Dr. Siegel is the author of Love, Medicine, and Miracles and Peace, Love, and Healing.

He is the founder of Exceptional Cancer Patients, a form of individual and group therapy that uses patients' dreams, drawings and images.

Tickets for his two-hour lecture, which is being sponsored by Merrimack Valley Hospice, are $20. Call Marge Price at 470-1615.

OBITUARIES

Margaret E. Fitzgerald, 69 Boston native

Margaret E. (Laffey) Fitzgerald, 69, of Wakefield died Saturday, Aug. 3, at Melrose-Wakefield Hospital.

Born in Boston Oct. 1, 1921, Mrs. Fitzgerald was a Wakefield resident for 35 years. She was a member of St. Joseph Church in Wakefield.

She was the daughter of the late Thomas and Margaret (Sweeney) Laffey and the widow of John E. Fitzgerald, who died in 1984.

Her family members include her son, John E. Fitzgerald Jr. of North Andover; daughter, Margaret A. Fitzgerald of Andover; sister, Helen Laffey of Wakefield; grandchildren, Jaclyn Fitzgerald of North Andover and Kara and Melissa Lavasseur, both of Andover; and son-in-law, Marc Comstock of Andover. She was also the mother of the late Jean Marie Fitzgerald and sister of the late Mary O'Malley.

A Mass was celebrated Tuesday at St. Joseph Church. Burial was in Forest Glade Cemetery in Wakefield.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Heart Disease Research Foundation, 50 Court St., Brooklyn, N.Y. 11201.

Funeral arrangements were by McDonald Funeral Home in Wakefield.

Mary L. O'Brien, 80 Phillips Academy nurse

Mary L. O'Brien, 80, of 174 Holt Road died Monday, Aug. 5, at Lawrence General Hospital. She was Phillips Academy's school nurse and cared for President George Bush while he was a student there in the '40s.

Born in Andover, she graduated from Salem School of Nursing. Miss O'Brien was the school nurse at PA until she enlisted in the Army Nurse Corps in 1943. During World War II she was stationed in Iceland.

Mr. Bush sent her personal invitations to his inaugurations as vice president and president. When a heart condition prevented her from attending his reception at Phillips two years ago, the president called her from the White House.

Miss O'Brien was employed as a nurse at the Bedford Veteran's Administration Hospital for more than 20 years before retiring.

She was also a member of St. Augustine Church.

Family members include her nephews, Joseph E. O'Brien Jr. of Andover, Kevin O'Brien of Newburyport and Michael O'Brien of Syracuse, N.Y.; nieces, Joanne O'Brien of Andover and Deborah (Timony) Darrigo of Hudson, N.H.

A Mass was celebrated Wednesday at St. Augustine Church. Burial was in St. Augustine Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were by Burke Funeral Home in Andover.

Hilda Willard, 51

Member of League of Women Voters

Hilda (Ray) Willard, 51, 4 Sugarbush Lane died Thursday, Aug. 1, at Brigham and Women's Hospital of ovarian cancer.

Mrs. Willard was born in Denver, Colo., and grew up and attended schools in Nashville, Tenn. She was a 1962 graduate of Smith College.

Mrs. Willard lived for many years in Falmouth, Maine, where she was a member and chairwoman of the Falmouth School Board. She was also finance chairwoman of the Northeast Hearing and Speech Center and the YMCA.

In Andover she was a member and finance chairwoman of the League of Women Voters, chairwoman of the Northeast Regional Education Council and a volunteer for local school activities.

Mrs. Willard was a bridge enthusiast and played with local circles for many years.

Family members include her husband, Dana G. Willard; sons, George D. and Stephen E. Willard, both of Andover; sisters, Adelaide Robb of Buffalo, N.Y., and Johnie Mai Davis of Atlanta, Ga.; and several nieces and nephews.

There are no calling hours.

Friends may attend memorial services Friday, Aug. 9, at 4:30 p.m. at the family residence at 4 Sugarbush Lane. Burial will be in Pine Grove Cemetery in Falmouth.

Memorial contributions may be made to the William P. Graves Ovarian Cancer Fund, care of Dr. Robert Knapp, Brigham and Women's Hospital, 75 Francis St., Boston, Mass. 02115.

Funeral arrangements are by Dewhirst and Conte Funeral Home, 17 Third St., North Andover.

Harold A. Johnson, 88 Retired sales manager

Harold A. Johnson, 88, of 48 High Plain Road died Tuesday, Aug. 6, at Anlaw Nursing Home in Lawrence after a long illness.

Born and raised in Andover, he was a lifelong resident. Mr. Johnson attended Andover schools and graduated in 1921 from Punchard High School, where he was president of his class.

He was the sales manager at Andover Press from 1922 to 1962 and later took a position as sales manager at Folsom Engraving Co. of Boston. He retired in 1969.

Mr. Johnson was also on the editorial staff of Harvard University's Football publication. He was a member of West Parish Church.

Mr. Johnson was a former trustee of Lawrence Savings Bank and served on the board of advisers for the Salvation Army in Lawrence. He was also past president of the Lawrence Rotary Club.

He was the widower of Barbara (Lee) Johnson, who died in 1970. Family members include his wife, Evelyn (Davidson) Johnson; daughter, Patricia Giblin of Wakefield; son, Arthur Johnson of Gainesville, Fla.; sister, Edith Tyler of Andover; and three grandsons and one granddaughter.

A memorial service will be held Friday, Aug. 9, at 1 p.m. at Edgerley and Bessom Andover Funeral Home, 33 Pearson St. The family will receive friends Friday from noon to 1 p.m. at the funeral home.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Salvation Army Corps, 250 Haverhill St., Lawrence, Mass.

Obituaries are a free service of the Townsman, which gets its information from funeral homes.

DOWN THE YEARS

100 years ago, Aug. 1891

Alvin Jenkins has left the employ of L.A. Belknap and is now engaged in a grocery store in Lynn.

E.H. Barnard is painting the Andover Press building.

Builder Mason has John F. Kimball's house on Central street well along, and we may expect to claim Mr. Kimball as a resident of Andover before snow flies.

Geo. A. Tyler was in town over Sunday, looking as brown as a berry, after a month spent in Maine. Mrs. Tyler accompanied him.

The cellar is nearly in for the new house to be built on Washington Avenue by Mr. Caldwell.

Oh, the stones, the stones, the stones! Dear Mr. Commissioner: It's not the crusher, but just an old-fashioned iron rake that would do the most immediate good in Andover streets.

"Not good enough," is what the Selectmen say to the poles which the railway people had planned to use below the river.

During the vacation of Mr. Batchelder, organist at Christ Church, Thomas E. Rhodes will preside at the organ.

Miss Winnie Burt has charge of Miss Neal's store during the latter's absence.

75 years ago, Aug. 1916

Harry Hurwirth, the local tailor, entertained relatives from Boston this week.

H. Bradford Lewis of Hidden road has recently purchased a Packard twin-six automobile.

The Andover Cricket team will play the Haverhill team on the local cricket field on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Gerald Towle of Hidden road left town this week for the military camp at Plattsburg, where he is enrolled for the month of August.

Miss M.E. Affleck, formerly bookkeeper for the J.H. Campion Co., is renewing acquaintances here.

At the clans' picnic at Dooley's grove, Saturday, Mrs. William Valentine won first prize in the race for members' wives. Clan Johnston won the tug-of-war and William White got second place in the bagpipe competition.

Jerry Harding of Portland, Maine, attempted to walk from Lowell to Portland and collapsed in Ballardvale yesterday. He was brought to Andover for treatment at Dr. Lane's and was taken to the Lawrence hospital. His family are coming for him today.

50 years ago, Aug. 1941

Early training in swimming and life saving at Poms Pond and natural cool headedness stood by Mrs. Andrew MacLachlan last Monday afternoon when, returning from a tiring walk along the beach at North Salisbury with Mrs. John Wright, a youngster approached the two women with terrifying news that some children were drowning.

The accident scene was over 300 yards from the cottage where the two local women were staying, but in less time than it takes to think, Mrs. MacLachlan covered the distance to the water and, fully clothed, plunged into the ocean whose receding tide was carrying the four frightened children farther out.

With alacrity, the rescuer brought two children to shore on the first trip and returned to the deep waters twice to bring in the other two, nearly being carried away herself in the strong undertow.

Eddie Doherty has been named backfield coach for the Eagles, replacing Mike Holovak, who will play professional football with the Los Angeles Rams. Doherty, whose home is on North Main street, was a star quarterback at Boston College while he was a student there.

going to get killed," Ms. Morando said.

The committee will meet Tuesday, Aug. 13, at 4:45 p.m. in the committee meeting room in the school offices. Member Susan Poore said she will ask the committee at that time to do away with the controversial fees.

Students who live less than 1.5 miles from their school will have to pay $206 to ride the bus. Those who live in between 1.5 and two miles away will have to pay $119. Students who live more than two miles can ride the bus free.

In July of 1981, around the time Proposition 2 1/2 was implemented, Andover cut seven buses from its roster to save money, said Frank Paul, the school's business manager. Due to parental concern, the committee conferred with the town's police department and three months later, restored two buses to routes the town safety officer deemed dangerous for walking. Officials also re-routed some buses for safety. No such similar plan has been discussed by the committee so far.

Like many families in town, the Morandos have more than one child who attend the public schools. Their oldest son, an eight-grader at Doherty Middle School, will be able to ride the bus free of charge, but their two youngest, a fourth- and a fifth-grader, are 1.3 miles away from Bancroft Elementary.

go to school so we can't drive them. I don't know how we are going to pay the $412 fee. We might have to take out a loan to make sure our kids can get to school safely," she said.

So far the schools' business department has received commitments from parents for about $80,000 in fees. Of that, $25,000 in checks has been collected, said Mr. Paul. The deadline to sign up for a bus for those under the two mile limit was July 26. The deadline to pay the fee is Friday, Aug. 16, Mr. Paul said. The committee hopes to raise $100,000 in fees.

Andover drops plans for tuition students at AHS Officials say new act makes plan uncontrollable; AHS loses $188,000

By Lisa Boudreau

Andover High School won't be able to collect any of the $235,000 officials had hoped to raise this year by accepting out-of-town students at $4,700 tuition each. The tuition-in plan that school officials hoped would attract 50 students and their parents' money won't be implemented this year, said Timothy Thomas, AHS principal.

"It's not possible," Mr. Thomas said.

The School Choice Act, signed by Gov. Weld last month as part of the budget, alters tuition-in programs where parents pay for their children to go to public school in districts other than their own. Under the School

Choice Act, school districts that send children to other districts lose state aid to the receiving school, for the same amount as the tuition. In other words, if it costs $4,700 for a student to attend a school out of her district, the community losing that student loses the same amount in state aid.

Tuition can't exceed the actual per-pupil cost at the receiving school and receiving schools can't discriminate against students, such as those with special needs, academic needs or those who have English proficiency problems.

If the School Choice Act is implemented, "The high-school-tuition plan is all washed out," said Mark McQuillan, Andover superintendent of schools. The new plan allows for school committees to vote to participate in the choice plan, but money to pay for the tuition would come from the sending schools' Chapter 70 local aid and be credited to the receiving school's local aid.

School systems that already have parental-pay programs won't be affected, but communities such as Andover would have to adopt the Choice Act and receive money from the sending districts. Mr. Thomas believes the requirements under the Choice Act would prohibit Andover's ability to screen the students it accepts.

Under the Choice Act, it isn't clear if the receiving or sending district would pay for support and special-needs and education services for out-of-town students.

Frank Paul, the schools' business manager, said there may be a movement at the state level to defer implementation of the act. But, Kevin O'Connor, staff member at House Minority Leader Peter Forman's office, said he isn't aware of such a move.

If all 40 of the students who requested applications for the AHS tuition program were enrolled, the school would have raised $188,000.

School Committee to go over budget Aug. 13

By Lisa Boudreau

The School Committee will have some weighty financial matters to discuss at its meeting Tuesday, Aug. 13, at 4:45 p.m.

The schools could have anywhere from $124,000 to $281,000 to buy back teaching and staff positions. The final amount hinges on various factors that will be decided by both town and school officials during the next 60 days, said Superintendent Mark McQuillan.

In a worst case scenario even the $124,000 isn't secure because members of the School Committee are split on whether to keep the school busing fees. If the committee votes to rescind the fees, approximately $75,000 will be needed to cover the lost revenue, said Frank Paul, business manager.

The buy-back money could grow if voters at the Sept. 30 Town Meeting decide to apply the town's capital outlay money, $200,000, to the schools' cut in local aid and the committee decided to add $37,000 in professional development funds to the buy-back pot.

Older in Andover: Hiking, biking, traveling

In September, the couple will join the group on a ride from Salem, Mass., to Quebec.

A van accompanies the riders and carries their bags between night stops, but leaves riders on their own to bike during the day. Riders can take a short or long route and the only limitation is that they make it to the next inn or guest house on the route in time for happy hour.

"The part Hutch and I like is we are independent," Mrs. Hutchins said.

Lots of paved roads that are not heavily traveled make for good biking in this area, according to Mrs. Hutchins.

"The best biking in New England is in the Boxford, Topsfield, North Andover area," she said. "We do not go on Route 133. We ride very defensively."

Those interested in cycling can obtain information on local rides from any bicycle shop and beginners shouldn't worry about trying to do a big ride right away.

"Anything you do is good," Mrs. Hutchins said.

"Biking is awfully good for your body, better than tennis," she said.

Instead of the jerky starting and stopping motions of tennis, it involves more rhythmic and steady motions.

"You find your cadence," Mrs. Hutchins said of biking.

She told of a recent ride she and her husband were on with a couple who were both older than 80.

"They did fine," she said.

She repeated a practical piece of wisdom for seniors, which she passed along at her 50-year college class reunion earlier this year.

"Use it or lose it," she advised.

The Hutchins do a lot of bicycling at Lake Winnepesaukee where they have a summer home. They also ski in the winter time.

"That's the joke. We still ski downhill," Mrs. Hutchins said.

Hiking the Rockies

Marta and Richard Hornidge, of 11 Ballardvale Road, also keep healthy by remaining on the go. He was sailing his 26-foot sailboat off the coast of Labrador and Prince Edward Island this week. She had just returned from hiking the Rocky Mountains in Glacier National Park, Mont., with her 11-year-old grandson.

Mrs. Hornidge didn't want her age printed, but instead referred to her and her husband as "septuagenarians."

"Early septuagenarians," she said.

She and her grandson trekked 70 miles in seven days at elevations up to 7,000 feet while in Montana.

"We were on the Continental Divide," Mrs. Hornidge said. "We stayed in lodges and hiked everyday."

"It does make you feel like a million bucks," she said of the hiking.

Although she couldn't quite keep up with her grandson, he waited for her on corners because of the grizzly bears.

"We saw one," she said.

Another couple was attacked by a grizzly during the week she and her grandson were there.

"We saw mountain goats, big horns (sheep), and marmots" came right up to us, she said. They also saw a moose.

"We saw just about one of everything," she said.

The only day it rained she and her grandson hiked six and a half miles up to a mountain chalet, only to find no vacancies, and had to climb all the way back down.

"Our biggest day was 15 or 16 miles," she said.

Hiking and sailing aren't the only sport for the Hornidges.

"We do a lot of cross-country skiing," she said, mentioning places such as Jasper and Banff national parks in Alberta, Canada, the Wasatch Mountains outside of Salt Lake City, Utah, and in Idaho.

They've also tried kayaking and are considering a kayak adventure next year in Alaska.

But the Hornidges aren't always off on distant adventures. They also lead several of the Appalachian Mountain Club hikes around Andover in the winter, spring and fall, especially on the Andover Village Improvement Society trails.

"They're geared to everybody from young children, 5-years-old, to grandmothers," Mrs. Hornidge said of the AMC walks. "They're Sunday afternoons, a couple of hours usually."

"We welcome everybody. You don't have to be an AMC member," she said.

AVIS maps are available at the Moor and Mountain outfitting store in Dundee Park, at the Memorial Hall Library and at town offices, and employees at Moor and Mountain are very helpful with information about particular trails, according to Mrs. Hornidge.

She recommended the Goldsmith Woodlands Reservation, off South Main Street, as a good starting trail for those who don't know their ability but would like to give hiking a try.

"It's very beautiful in there," she said.

The Shawsheen River Reservation, starting near the Horn Bridge, is another good one.

"Now that's totally flat. And there are board walks and bridges. There's everything there, and they're all well marked," she said.

But the bugs are "horrendous" in some of the trails right now and the AMC-led hikes are suspended until September.

In addition to leading the walks, Mr. Hornidge is a warden of the Skug River and Hammond reservations. He is also still involved with a personnel service he sold in Burlington.

homes easily, and they both have their hands full keeping up with their own business investments and with the flower gardens and lawns on their 2 3/4 acre property.

"I play a lot of tennis. We read a lot, too," Mrs. Hornidge said, describing their reading materials as a "rather eclectic assortment."

She credits her and her husband's many activities for keeping them healthy.

"It's terribly important for not only your physical, but your mental attitude," she said. "We're both very lucky to be in good shape."

Out for dinner ... in Glasgow

Dorothy and Bernie Bresnahan, of 4 Argyle St., keep busy in a number of areas, literally.

"We travel. Anywhere and everywhere," Mrs. Bresnahan said.

The Bresnahans are both celebrating birthdays this month. He will be 75 and she, 73. Along with their own traveling, they also organize trips for the Andover Haven Associates, a seniors group started about 20-25 years ago, according to Mrs. Bresnahan.

"It was started originally because a group of seniors in town decided there was nothing to do," Mrs. Bresnahan said. "It's simply a social thing."

Haven Associates' activities include parties, picnics and the one-day, overnight or longer trips the Bresnahans help organize.

"I try to do a day trip a month. I do at least one big trip a year for the group," Mrs. Bresnahan said.

Her husband organized the trips for Haven Associates for five years before she took over the task last year.

A typical day-trip might include a ride out to Gloucester for a harbor cruise and a clambake with a side trip to Rockport. Or they might go to a restaurant, a place for dinner and dancing, or on a shopping tour.

"Last week I took a group into Quincy Market to shop, then we had lunch, then went to see Nunsense," Mrs. Bresnahan said.

An overnight trip might include a ride on The Mount Washington cruise ship at Lake Winnepesaukee, or a weekend in the mountains. They also take longer trips.

"We'll be going to New York City and Ellis Island in December," she said.

This past spring a group went to England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales for two weeks.

"Last year we went to Portugal," Mrs. Bresnahan said.

Among the favorite trips are the "mystery rides," day trips for which the agenda is kept secret. Participants are only told what type of clothes to wear, for instance dancing shoes or a dinner dress if they will end up out for a night on the town, or deck shoes and foul weather gear if they're going out to the coast or for a cruise.

Some Haven Associates trips that are coming up are: Aug. 22, Kennebunk, Maine, lobster barn clambake; Sept. 11-13, shopping spree in the North Conway area; Sept. 16-20, Ocean City, Md., and Assateague Island; Oct. 3-6, Pennsylvania Dutch country and Gettysburg; Oct. 30, dinner and dancing and entertainment; Dec. 3-4, New York City; and Dec. 17-18, a Christmas party.

Some Haven Associates trips are strictly for members, others are open to non-Andover residents.

The group meets once a month, except during July and August, usually at Andover Commons. Haven has more than 200 members and 60-80 members usually attend meetings.

"The parties and mystery rides always get a lot more," Mrs. Bresnahan said.

The Bresnahans also keep busy with activities right here in Andover.

Mr. Bresnahan is "sort of enjoying" not having the responsibility of organizing the trips, but remains vice president of Haven Associates and volunteers at the Council on Aging's drop-in center at Old Town Hall on Main Street.

"I'm on the Council on Aging and I do other things," Mrs. Bresnahan said.

Mrs. Bresnahan's "other things" include volunteering at Lawrence General Hospital as a patient representative, at the Merrimack Valley Hospice and working with the blind.

"It keeps me out of mischief," she said.

Elderly may qualify for this benefit

Through no fault of their own, thousands of Massachusetts' low-income elderly have not yet availed themselves of up to $30 a month in state assistance in paying their Medicare costs under a program known as the Qualified Medicare Beneficiary (QMB) program.

The enrollment system is not complicated but the initial advisories from Washington were not clear.

Enacted by Congress, the program authorizes state departments of public welfare to share the cost of certain Medicare expenses with the beneficiaries.

To be eligible for the program, an applicant must be eligible for Medicare Part A benefits, either as a person 65 or over or as someone receiving Social Security Disability benefits for the past two years. There are other qualifications, such as income level.

The program covers all services covered by Medicare. Elders may apply for the benefit at their local Department of Public Welfare office - not a Social Security office.

We really don't want to say that today's story on active senior citizens is the last in the series called 60+.

While this is the final chapter in the series, the Townsmen will continue to write about senior citizens from time to time. We have met and interviewed many inspiring and active elderly people while writing our series on what it's like to be older living Andover. Mostly, we are encouraged that we, too, can grow old comfortably here in Andover, and be challenged.

Of course there is work to be done because not all senior citizens, most of whom are on fixed incomes, can afford to do what they would like in their later years. For instance, we found that this community lacks congregate housing for elders.

One of the delightful people we interviewed for the series, Eva Loosigian, pointed out that many seniors are alone and lonely, that congregate housing could help alleviate that problem. And Fricka Leistikow reminds us that keeping sidewalks clear of dog dirt, as she calls it, and snow in the winter can make all the difference to her.

We learned that there are many varied types of activities that elders can do here. And we found there are people here with so much energy that all a person has to do is talk about what is lacking, be it medical or social attention, and there most likely is someone who will reach out and help.

We conclude that psychologist Leon Somers, another senior interviewed for the series, has the answer: Stay active, he warned; don't allow yourself to become isolated, because it can happen slowly without a person noticing.

And if you are alone and without companionship and challenge, your health is bound to fail. Quickly.

So, just as one of the purposes of this paper is to help people stay connected, the goal of the series was to reach out to our older population. We all need each other.

My faith isn't strong enough for this

By Perry Colmore Catlin

I spent a lot of time at a hospital last week, pacing the waiting room as my son had five hours of reconstructive surgery on his right knee, and sitting by his hospital bedside on and off for three days.

The day after his operation, I spent some time with Nathan Talbot, spokesman for the Christian Science Church. It is very difficult for me to think of my son making it through a bad knee injury and excruciating surgery and recovery without the help of medicine.

But now that I've talked with Mr. Talbot, I understand his point of view better. Still, I don't believe my faith would ever be strong enough to watch my son's pain without the help of a doctor.

Christian Scientists use prayer as some of us use drugs. And they don't mix prayer and medicine.

Mr. Talbot is making his way around different newspapers. He's visited more than 80. Through Andover resident Liz Cahoon, who works for the church in Boston, he requested a visit with the Townsmen. I believe his drive to visit newspapers came from the media coverage last year of the case of Christian Scientists David and Ginger Twitchell, of Boston, who were convicted of involuntary manslaughter in the death of their 2 1/2-year-old son, Robyn, who died in 1986 from complications resulting from a bowel obstruction. His parents had relied on prayer to heal him.

The case is about to come before the public again because it is being appealed.

Mr. Talbot told us at the Townsmen that he believes newspapers' reporting on Christian Science was "too superficial." He feels reporters didn't fully understand the religion.

After speaking with so many newspapers, Mr. Talbot says, "I'm feeling an appreciation of freedom of the press. I don't know if Americans appreciate that or not." He said the people he's met at newspapers are good people, "people who are thinking, trying to understand issues."

And then we got right into it — the Twitchell case.

Mr. Talbot, who knows the Twitchells and who spoke with them on the second day of their son's illness and the day before he died, told us that the Twitchells had adopted a system of treating their son, praying, a system they believed was working.

Mr. Talbot said if the Twitchells had known or believed their son was dying they would have resorted to calling a doctor.

The Christian Scientist uses prayer as a mode of treating disease, Mr. Talbot pointed out. And he says studies show Christian Scientists have a better healing rate than those of us who use doctors.

He says a Christian Scientist does not rule out using a doctor. But he says a Christian Scientist doesn't use prayer and medical treatment simultaneously. The two aren't compatible, according to Mr. Talbot. The use of prayer and Christian Scientist practitioners is a pure form, Mr. Talbot says. The spirit is the only power, God is all powerful and that power will heal if the person embraces that theory.

Therefore, it is a failure of their faith if they use a doctor. However, both Ms. Cahoon and Mr. Talbot say they know people who have used doctors and that the church and its members do not shun them for it. They do say, however, that a Christian Scientist often is quiet about seeking the

TOWNTALK

Catherine Ghandchi, of 3 Eagle Way, phoned us to say she was carded at the movies in Lawrence the other night. The 31-year-old housewife had gone to see the controversial movie, Boyz N' The Hood, which has caused so much violence around the country since it was released a few weeks ago.

Although she seemed pleased to be carded (Do you look very young? "No!"), Ms. Ghandchi's point was that the policeman and the movie manager who were standing outside the movie theater seemed to be inviting trouble, not standing ready to head it off.

"The movie had very little violence," she insisted. "It has one sex scene, one scene of violence. There's a lot of foul language."

Ms. Ghandchi said Terminator was "much worse" than this movie, which she also said had very little to do with street gangs.

"It was about two black boys trying to get out of the ghetto," she said. "It was a very, very good movie."

Melissa Stone, 11, daughter of Neal and Regina Stone of 4 Acropolis Circle, participated in an open-call audition for the Nickelodeon TV Network at the North Shore Shopping Center in Peabody Aug. 3.

Of the 500 participants, Melissa advanced to the finals with four others by completing several rounds of interviewing, game show questioning and acting on the Nickelodeon stage.

Although Melissa did not win the grand prize, a trip to Universal Studios in Orlando, Fla., as well as a guest appearance on a Nickelodeon TV show, her parents report she had a "terrific time" competing and she did win several prizes.

Mark Polakow, a former Andover resident, opted to attend a more conventional college, rather than the traditional schools around the area.

Mr. Polakow is a third-year literature student at Maharishi International University in Fairfield, Iowa. The students and faculty in the school gather twice a day to practice transcendental meditation. He began meditating when he was 13 years old.

MIU has the same courses as other schools, but adds meditation sessions as part of its curriculum. A meditator must meditate for about 15-20 minutes a session.

His decision to attend the school wasn't sudden. He went the traditional route, then decided to look for something else.

Mr. Polakow attended Bradford and Merrimack College, but said he wanted to meditate with a large number of peers.

"MIU understood things the way I did," he said.

Mr. Polakow said other schools' emphasis is not necessarily on education, but rather on partying. He said he has done his share and isn't interested in that anymore.

Instead, Mr. Polakow wants to find peace in his internal and external world.

"The times in my life that I'm meditating are my happiest," he said.

According to Mr. Polakow, statistics show that a person who meditates has coherent brain waves and improved reaction time.

Despite his interest in meditation,

Mr. Polakow participates in many other activities. He writes poetry and has had his work published in the Amherst Literary Review, is a counselor at a boys' camp, and "hangs out" with friends.

Mr. Polakow plans to visit his friends in Andover this month. He isn't sure what he'll be doing after graduation, but said he would like to go to Europe.

"After graduation, the world is laid out in front of me," he said.

Midshipman Second Class Christopher McAnally recently completed CORTAMID, a 30-day training and indoctrination course for NROTC midshipmen. CORTAMID, part of the four-year NROTC curriculum, is designed to familiarize future officers with career options in the naval service.

Mr. McAnally, a junior at Boston College in Chestnut Hill, was assigned to a carrier attack squadron (VA-75, the "Sunday Punches") based at the Naval Air Station at Oceana, Va.

The 1989 Andover High School graduate is the son of Terry and Alan McAnally of 4 Midland Circle.

RECYCLING

Environmentalists push for less packaging in this state

By Virginia Cole

Perhaps some of you have seen in the local papers that Massachusetts is going to try again to get a packaging-recycling bill into law. The Weld administration has approved the bill, which would set standards for packaging produced both inside and outside the state.

There have been months of negotiations and compromises worked out between environmentalists and state experts on solid waste and the business interests that feel they will be hurt. With the backing of the Democratic legislature and the Republican administration, hopes are high that it may pass this time.

The object is to reduce waste from packaging enough to forgo any further construction of incinerators or citing of landfills in the state. This would be a great success for environmentalists and for all of us interested in clean air and water and less money spent on waste disposal.

The second object is to create a market for the paper, glass and plastic we put out at the curb. Markets are needed for all these materials. The creation of markets would also cut down the cost of recycling as well as reuse scarce or useful materials. The bill will require packaging by the year 2000 to be made of recycled materials or materials that can be recycled at least five times.

New jobs are stressed, too, as new businesses would develop to answer the demands for new types of packaging.

The packaging industry claims Massachusetts would be put at a disadvantage in requiring different packaging from all other states. The article I read did not report on what other states are doing, but I imagine moves are being made in this direction nationwide.

We may be asked to sign petitions for forms of this bill, to call our legislators about it, and even eventually to find it on the ballot.

My faith isn't strong enough for this type of healing

Mr. Talbot is most upset at the way the media and the courts treated the Twitchells.

"We made felons of the Twitchells," complains Mr. Talbot, who adds that the Twitchells had no idea their son would die of his problem. In fact his brother had been sick just recently and had recovered.

Mr. Talbot cited a 1967 law that precludes criminal action against a Christian Scientist who does not use medical intervention. The law does not, however, preclude the state intervening and making a family or parent use medical treatment.

Mr. Twitchell lost his job and he now does pick-up maintenance jobs.

"And they take their children to doctors more than any American family, ill or well," Mr. Talbot said, talking about another part of the Twitchells' sentence.

Mr. Talbot believes the Twitchell case will be reversed on appeal.

Before leaving, Mr. Talbot told us he was raised a Christian Scientist by a mother who used the faith, but his father didn't.

Mr. Talbot had been badly injured when he was 5 or 6 and he prayed for healing and he was healed. Still, his father did not become a practicing Christian Scientist when his son was healed. Then, his father was badly injured and his leg was in a cast. His leg did not heal properly and the doctors wanted to break it again and set it again. He decided to try prayer instead of medicine this time.

Within a week, he was healed, said

Mr. Talbot. That incident, 30 years ago, brought his father into the Christian Science religion.

I asked why a person couldn't do both at once: pray and go to a doctor. That works against the absolute faith of prayer, he explained. I said I had trouble not trying everything on a child, someone so young that he or she can't make his or her own decisions.

I guess we agreed to respect one another, but I certainly am glad I had the chance to meet and talk with Mr. Talbot. I understand his point of view now.

Raytheon-Andover employee Cathleen McDevitt is congratulated by Bruce Gilmore, the district sales manager for Advil, for receiving the Advil Fitness Award at the Boston Manufacturers Hanover Corporate Challenge.

Raytheon employee receives fitness award

Raytheon-Andover employee Cathleen McDevitt was recently named recipient of the Advil Fitness Award for the 1991 Boston Manufacturers Hanover Corporate Challenge.

Sponsored by the Advil Forum on Health Education, a not-for-profit forum designed to educate consumers and professionals about healthcare issues, the purpose of the award is to recognize a runner who has shown determination and perseverance to overcome a sports injury and returned to compete in the race.

Ms. McDevitt received a special plaque and recognition at the completion of the Boston Corporate Challenge road race, Thursday, July 11, on Boston Common.

A product control planner at Raytheon and a Dracut resident, Ms. McDevitt injured her right knee in a car accident in July 1989, one day before the 1989 Boston Corporate Challenge. A serious runner for 18 years, she had previously competed in the Manufacturers Hanover Corporate Challenge International Championship in New York in 1987 and 1988.

After two operations to repair and remove knee cartilage and being unable to straighten her knee for one-and-a-half years, she began to train again this April.

In the 1991 Corporate Challenge, Ms. McDevitt placed fourth among the women with a time of 19:58 - good enough for Raytheon to place second overall in the coed division.

Approximately 10,000 runners from 628 companies competed in the eighth annual Boston Manufacturer Hanover Corporate Challenge, a 3.5 mile road race open to teams of full-time employees of corporations, businesses and financial institutions.

Andover woman rows at crew championships in Spain

The 18-year-old Ms. Driscoll, at 5'4" and 110 pounds the smallest member of the women's team by far, served as coxswain in the women's eight.

Driscoll was chosen for the nine-athlete 1991 U.S. Junior National squad after a month of selection camps and trials.

The PA student-athlete was one of two Massachusetts residents chosen on the West Coast-dominated team, the other Bay Stater 17-year-old Aanika DeVries of Brookline High who rowed on both the eight with cox

Blues come out on top at Kennebec Klassic

With four victories in two days the Andover Blues, comprised primarily of Phillips Academy students, won the Kennebec Klassic 16-and-under Fast Pitch Softball Tournament in Augusta, Maine.

As the only out-of-state squad in the elite 10-team field, Andover had the toughest draw but survived by beating the teams that would finish second, third and fourth in the tourney.

In the championship final Andover completed its impressive sweep with a 12-8 triumph over local favorite Augusta Recreation.

Heather Brown and Kerry Furilla combined to pitch the Blues to an 8-3 victory over the Sanford, Maine Attractions in the opener.

Brown (3-1 for the complete season) allowed only three hits, but tired and left in the sixth inning with the bases loaded and no one out.

Furilla came on in relief and walked the first batter on a close 3-2 pitch, but then shocked the noisy crowd by fanning the next two batters on six pitches and getting the final out on a grounder to short.

Andover High standout Lindsey Sweeney, who led the Golden Warriors in batting last spring and will return to AHS as a junior next month, and Jill Cassie combined for five hits and two walks to pace the Blues' attack.

PA's Jill Imbriano drove in three first-inning runs with a two-out, bases-loaded single.

Mary Wells was supreme with two hits and spectacular defense at third base.

Drench four-hitter

The Blues next ran away from the Skowhegan, Maine Indians in the second round, Jessie Drench tossing a complete-game four-hitter while striking out eight and walking none.

Leah MacLean and Wells led the offense, bot going 3-for-4, while Jill Cassie, Karen O'Connor and Katie Batts added several RBI each.

Andover then moved to a showdown with the only other undefeated team at that point, host Augusta, and came away with a pulsating 7-6 victory that advanced the locals into the championship round.

Playing under the lights before another large, noisy and partisan crowd, Andover chalked up the victory in an intense, seesaw struggle that took an emotional toll on players and spectators alike.

Kerry Furilla went the distance on the mound, yielding nine hits and six earned runs while whiffing seven and walking four.

Andover built an early 4-0 lead, keyed by a clutch two-out, two-strike RBI single in the first by Lindsey Sweeney. She, in turn, was rescued by a Jill Cassie double.

Catcher Kate Silva, who played a phenomenal defensive game behind the plate and saved several runs by blocking pitches in the dirt with runners at third base, combined with Sweeney and Cassie to double the 2-0 lead in the third.

But the advantage disappeared quickly under a five-run Augusta onslaught in the bottom of the third, although the game remained within Andover's reach when Augusta left the bases loaded.

The first two Andover batters struck out in the top of the fourth, as momentum remained on the home team's side, but then Leah MacLean wisely dropped a push bunt to the right of the charging Augusta pitcher whose hurried throw to first was in the dirt.

On a perfectly-executed hit-and-run, MacLean took off on a 2-1 pitch and Mary Wells lined a gapper to right-center to tie it 5-5.

Augusta left the bases loaded again in the fourth, and it remained 5-5 through the fifth after threats by both teams were stymied.

Wells the heroine

With two down and one on in the sixth, Wells cracked another RBI double to rescue the go-ahead run and then scored what proved to be the vital winning run on a subsequent single by Kate Silva.

A sudden spate of wildness by Furilla enabled Augusta to score a gift run and close the gap to 7-6 in the home half of the sixth.

The top of the seventh went all-too-quick for the Blues who were retired 1-2-3 without incident.

The atmosphere crackled as Augusta came to bat in the bottom of the seventh, needing one run to force extra innings and two to win the game.

The first batter popped out to Cassie at second base, but the

AHS girls' volleyball team starts getting ready for new season

By Rick Harrison

The 1991 Andover High girls' volleyball team will begin double session practices on Monday, Aug. 26 at the AHS Dunn Gymnasium.

Daily workouts will run from 8:30-11 a.m. and 2:43-4:30 p.m.

Lady Warriors' Head Coach Art Iworsley and assistant George Sullivan, who has returned after a one-year stint at Merrimack College, have lined up several early practice matches against Alvirne High of Hudson, N.H., Salem N.H. High and North Reading High.

Any Andover High girl in grades 9-12, with a recent physical exam and passing grades last year, is eligible and welcome to try out.

Seniors who graduated last June after helping Andover to a 14-6 record, second place in the Merrimack Valley Conference Large School Division and a berth in the State Tournament, include league All-Stars Ayanna Littrean and Nicole Thompson along with Maureen Maginnis, Peggy Dugal, Christina Chunnias, Nancy Troy and Brionna Phillips.

Senior Stephanie Kupa was the team's top blocker (71 percent), and leading setters were seniors Meghan Mueller and Cara Conserva.

Eligible to be elevated from the highly-successful 18-2 JV squad are Lee Hendricks, Carrie Green, Sarah Schmuhl, Alexis Campbell, Julie Doherty, Julie Gediman, Joanna Moynihan, Stephanie Crane, Holly Magee, Melissa Minot, Erinne Sullivan and Sarah Tully.

Andover High has started to build a strong tradition in girls' volleyball, finished second in the MVC Large School Division and qualifying for the State Tournament each of the last three years.

The varsity has a won-lost record of 44-16 over that stretch, while the junior varsity is 52-8 for a combined record to 96-24 (a flashy 77.0 winning percentage).

The Andover volleyballers will open and close their schedule with a pair of non-league matches against Bishop Fenwick, the season lidifter on Sept. 9.

The first league match, which is the home opener as well, is against Methuen on Sept. 10 at 3:30 p.m.

Chelmsford and Billerica in the Large School and Dracut in the Small School Division once again figure to be league and statewide powerhouses.

SPORTSTALK

Four Andover youths participated in the Seacost Junior Golf Classic held at the Exeter (N.H.) Country Club on Tuesday, July 30.

Jenn Munroe and Colleen Sheehy shot 78 and 79, respectively, over nine holes to take second and third place in the girls 14 and under division.

Mike Sheehy shot a 52 and Tim Sheehy shot a 48 in the boys 14 and under.

Steve Mollineaux and Scott Halecki were among the athletes on The Pingree School's baseball team to receive Eastern League All-Star status. Mollineaux was named to the first team, while Halecki picked up an honorable mention.

Mollineaux, the team's co-captain, shared the Coach's Award with another teammate.

A number of Andover residents came out as winners at the eighth annual Run With CLASS roadrace recently.

John Clopeck, 27, was the overall winner with a time of 25:05.

Terri Anne McGettrick, 27, was third overall in the women's division. She ran the course in 31:05.

David Quintal, 28, placed second in the 20- to 29-year-old division with a time of 26:53.

Thomas McGrath, 37, placed third in the 35- to 39-year-old division with a time of 32:14.

Christine Roberts, 55, ran in the 55- to 59-year-old division with a time of 46:17.

A pinch-hitter struck out on a sharp-breaking Furilla pitch in the dirt.

The next Augusta batter had doubled, reached base on an error and third strike wild pitch, and flied out to deep center. She slammed a hard grounder at shortstop MacLean, who flipped to keystone partner Cassie for the game-ending forceout.

Championship game
Jessie Drench cruised through the first three innings of the final, allowing only a bunt single as the Blues bolted to a commanding 10-1 lead.

Andover then produced its only bad inning of the tournament, but fortunately had the nine-run cushion to fall back on. Three errors of commission, one of omission, two hits, a walk and a hit batsman produced five runs and renewed hope for Augusta.

Furilla relieved Cassie in the fifth, surrendering two more runs during her three-inning stint, but Andover used a two-run seventh to dissolve any late-game dramatic and seal the 12-8 championship victory.

The Blues were then rewarded with trophies and complimentary live lobsters.

The Blues' roster includes Phillips Academy students Francesca Antifonario, Kristen Asquith, Katie Batts, Heather Brown, Jill Cassie, Laurie D'Agostino, Jessie Drench, Bridget Finn, Jill Imbriano, Leah MacLean, Lisa Mallett and Kate Silva.

Other Andoverites are Lindsey Sweeney and Vanessa Blank of Doherty Junior High.

Town Grill knocks Red Harris Sports and Shiepe's out of playoffs

By Rick Harrison

Andover Town Grill got off to a great start in the Greater-Lawrence/Lowell Men's Baseball League playoffs last weekend, trimming Red Harris Sports of Andover 14-4 and Shiepe's of Salem N.H. 4-2 in its first two games.

The top eight teams in the league qualified for the playoffs which are run under a double-elimination, round-robin format.

Town Grill, the West Division champs during the regular season and the No. 2 seed in the playoffs, was scheduled to play its third game last night in Salem, N.H. against Andover's Threads of Ireland.

If Town Grill, 14-4 overall, won last night it will next play on Tuesday (Aug. 13) in the championship round at Haverhill Stadium.

A defeat meant a shift to the loser's bracket and a survival game this Sunday against an as-yet undetermined opponent at the North Andover Middle School.

Two teams, East Division champ Leo's Pub and Red Harris, were ousted from the playoffs last weekend.

Town Grill, 14-4

Player-Manager Ed Kruger's Grill

crew opened the playoffs with a bang at Gage Field in Lowell, slapping seven singles and scoring eight runs in the bottom of the first against Red Harris Sporting Goods (8-8 record).

The eight-run outburst enabled Town Grill to alter its pitching plans, with regular shortstop Peter Reming taking the mound instead of undefeated ace Dave Miles.

Reming, now 2-0 with a save, hurled four steady innings before Miles mopped up in the fifth. The 14-4 rout was halted after five innings because of darkness.

Leading the winners' attack with two hits apiece were Chris Sapuppo, Scott Deery and Miles. Sapuppo and Miles also had RBI.

Town Grill, 4-2

Miles went the seven-inning distance in the 4-2 triumph over Shiepe's (10-6) at the North Andover Middle School field.

The former Central Catholic and current Merrimack College standout, an Andover resident, tossed a three-hitter to boost his season record to a perfect 9-0. Miles struck out four and walked three.

Town Grill fell behind 1-0 in the top of the second, but rallied for a pair of runs in the home half of the inning.

Dave Dyjak drew a walk and moved to third on Tim Rooney's single. Rooney stole second, Pete Reming rescued Dyjak with a one-out sacrifice fly, and catcher Kevin Rourke put TG ahead with an RBI double down the left field line.

Shiepe's came back to tie the game with its second run in the third, but Town Grill retaliated with two more in the bottom of the stanza to complete the scoring.

Chris Sapuppo launched the third with a walk and stolen base. Cam Deery then laid down a sacrifice bunt, with Sapuppo rounding third and racing home on the pre-set play. John Glynn followed with a single, and he later scored the insurance run on a single by Miles.

Andover Blue heads for Pony League finals

Andover Blue bested Methuen two out of three in the suburban Pony League semi-final playoffs in a three-game weekend series. Blue won the rubber game on Sunday 8-0. The win earned Blue the Eastern Division tourney lead. They play for the championship against Winthrop Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Deciding Game, 8-0

Pete Murphy's curve ball baffled Methuen's batters as Pete pitched the full game allowing five hits and striking out six. The offense was led by Todd Harris who was two for two, scored three times, two RBI's, and three stolen bases; Toby Guzowski was one for two with two RBI's. Matt Wolcott drove in two runs. The defense behind Pete Murphy was excellent as Paul Allard played his customary, take-it-for-granted, excellent game behind the plate. Todd Harris made several great plays as short stop.

Blue jumped to a 1-0 lead in first as Paul Allard sacrificed Todd

Andover broke open the game in the third with a four run outburst. Peter Murphy reached on a fielder's choice, while Rob Derba beat out an infield hit. Both runners moved over on an error. Todd Harris drilled a single to score both runners. Todd stole second then third. Paul Allard walked and stole second. Toby Guzowski's smash through the infield brought in Todd and Paul.

In the visitor's fourth, Chris Sintros' nice over-the-shoulder catch in right field snuffed out a potential rally. In the home half of the fourth, Matt Wolcott drove in his second run with a sacrifice fly to deep left field to score Todd Harris who had walked and rounded to third on walks to Paul Allard and Toby Guzowski.

In the fifth, Todd Harris made a nice play on a slowly hit ball to shortstop. Blue concluded the scoring with two runs in the fifth as Todd Harris' hit loaded the bases. Paul Allard and Toby Guzowski each wacked in a run.

Game One - Andover Vs. Methuen 16-6

Matt Wolcott pitched six strong innings allowing just three hits. Justin Connors finished up for Matt. With Methuen ahead 2-0 in the first, Blue answered with three runs. Todd Harris and Paul Allard reached on bunt singles and worked a double steal. Toby Guzowski drove in Todd on a fielder's choice and Matt Wolcott's pop fly single scored Paul. Matt who had taken second on the throw to the plate stole third and was balked home.

After Methuen tied the game at 3-3 in the top half of the second, Blue scored two more runs to take a 5-3 lead which the would not relinquish. Paul Allard's seeing eye single drove home Chris O'Connell who had walked and stole second. Paul moved to third base on an error and stolen base. Toby Guzowski's fielder's choice drove in Paul.

Andover Blues win Dracut Invitational

For the second consecutive weekend, the Andover Blues 16 & Under fastpitch team defeated the host team to win a ten team tournament, coming back to top the Dracut Cougars, 10-4. Trailing, 3-0, Andover got on the board in the fourth inning. Katie Batts led off with a single to center field, and Kristen Asquith's bunted so well that both runners were safe. After an infield pop-up, the runners advanced on a wild pitch, with Batts scoring on an infield out.

In the fifth, Kate Silva's one-out single started the tying rally. Jill Cassie and Jill Imbriano singled to load the bases, and Katie Batts drove in two runs with a double to right center. Imbriano scored as Asquith struck out but the ball eluded the catcher, who mistakenly threw to first, allowing the run to tally while the batter was retired.

Andover scored the knockout in the sixth. Leah MacLean led off with a double to left and Mary Wells worked a walk after fouling off four two-strike pitches. Lindsey Sweeney singled, Kate Silva walked, Jill Cassie singled and, after a long fly-ball out, Batts drove home another run with a basehit. Kristen Asquith's triple to rightfield completed the scoring and added an exclamation point. Dracut plated a meaningless run in the home seventh.

Jessie Drench, making her fourth pitching appearance of the tournament, went the distance, allowing six hits, walking three, and fanning two. During the three-day competition, in twenty-one innings of pitching, Drench gave up fourteen runs (six earned), twenty-one hits, and six walks, while striking out thirteen strikeouts. Lindsey Sweeney pitched five innings before going on the shelf with an injury.

The Blues advanced to the second round when Wilmington forfeited, defeated Northbridge, 14-4, Dracut, 6-5, and Stoughton, 11-5, before the facing the host team again in the finals. Dracut reached the finals by rebounding from its earlier loss at Andover's hands by winning three straight in the loser's bracket while facing elimination.

The third-round win over Dracut featured leftfielder Kristen Asquith's throw to the plate cutting down the tying run with two out in the home seventh inning. Katie Batts smacked a three-run homer in the victory over Stoughton.

The team includes Phillips Academy players Francesca Antifonario, Kristen Asquith, Katie Batts, Heather Brown, Jill Cassie, Lauri D'Agostino, Jessie Drench, Bridget Finn, Jill Imbriano, Leah MacLean, Lisa Mallett, and Kate Silva; Andover High's Lindsey Sweeney, Doherty JHS's Vanessa Blank, North Andover High's Becky Shola, and Mary Wells of Bishop Fenwick. The Blues are coached by Peter Drench, Pete Savard, and Jimmy Cassie.

Audubon Society looks for nominations

The Massachusetts Audubon Society is seeking nominations for this year's Audubon A and Conservation Teacher of the Year awards, to be presented by the society November.

The Audubon A Award recognizes citizens, legislators, organizations, communities and businesses who show outstanding commitment and action in solving environmental problems. The Conservation Teacher of the Year Award recognizes excellence in environmental education.

The society is asking for Audubon A nominations in four categories: businesses or corporations, citizen action, legislation and media. Conservation teacher of the year nominations can fall into the elementary or secondary education categories.

To make an Audubon A Award nomination, call Faye Rapoport or Holly Spousta at (617) 259-9500 to receive a nomination form. The deadline is Friday, Aug. 16. Conservation Teacher of the Year nomination forms can be obtained from the society's education department at the same number. The deadline is Sept. 15.

Caution prevents Lyme disease

The Massachusetts Audubon Society often responds to concerned citizens who worry about getting Lyme disease after they see ticks on their families or pets. In fact, the ticks they can see are not usually Lyme-bearing deer ticks at all, but rather larger dog ticks. Deer ticks carry lyme disease, and immature deer ticks are about the size of the period at the end of this sentence. Adults are slightly larger and all ticks swell when they bite, filling with the blood of the host.

Lyme disease is an infectious disease caused by bacteria spread by the tiny infected deer ticks, which can neither jump nor fly. The disease has been detected all over the United States. In Massachusetts, the ticks are most often found in coastal areas, on islands and in the Connecticut River Valley.

Lyme ticks cling to plants near the ground in brushy, wooded or grassy places and are most active during the summer. They climb onto unsuspecting animals and people who brush against the plants. Watching out for and removing ticks promptly are the first steps in preventing infection. Not all ticks carry the bacteria and the tick has to be attached for at least 24 hours to pass it on to the host.

Since deer ticks are most common in areas frequented by deer, one precaution is to avoid walking off trails and through long grass, brush or woods.

When bush whacking or trail blazing in high risk areas, it's wise to guard against tick bites. Wearing light-colored clothing makes it easier to detect ticks. Tucking long pants into socks and long-sleeved shirts in at the waist makes it more difficult for the tick to reach exposed skin. Using certain repellents (ones with DEET) on ankles may stop a tick from crawling up your leg.

Check your body and clothing frequently and carefully for ticks. At the larval and nymphal stage deer ticks are often mistaken for freckles. They are most often found on the thighs, arms and underarms, behind the ears and along the hairline.

To remove a tick, grasp it with tweezers and pull firmly but gently until the mouth parts are released from the skin. If you use your fingers, wash thoroughly afterward. Don't use matches, alcohol or acetone to coax a tick out of the skin. This may kill the tick and make it impossible to remove the mouth parts and could lead to an infection. Put anti-

In the third, Chris Sintros and Peter Murphy reached on single and moved to second and third on a passed ball.

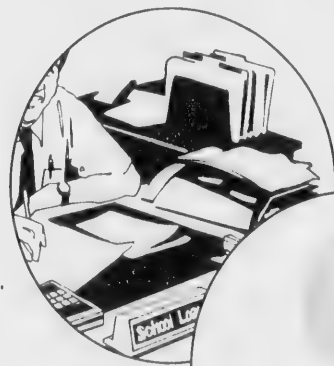

Andover followed with a couple more runs in the fourth on a bases loaded walk to Peter Murphy and a passed ball scoring Matt Wolcott.

Paul Allard went three for five, four runs scored, and three RBI's. Matt Wolcott was two for four, two runs scored and three RBI's. Toby Guzowski was one for three with two RBI's. Rob Derba was one for three, two scored runs and two RBI's. Chris Sintros, Peter Murphy and Chris O'Connell also scored.

Downtown businesses to fight N.H. mall competition

By Don Staruk

Andover businesses are circling the wagons to defend against an anticipated onslaught of advertising by the new mall at Rockingham Park, in Salem, N.H., and will do advertising of their own to try and keep customers here in town and to draw new customers.

The Rockingham Mall, with its grand opening scheduled for Aug. 22, is expected to advertise heavily in the Merrimack Valley to draw customers over the border into New Hampshire. Local businesses are joining forces to protect themselves.

Approximately 30 business persons who attended an Andover Center Association meeting Wednesday morning heard about an advertising campaign

The advertising would play up the quaintness of Andover's downtown and focus on the individual attention customers get from owner-operated businesses.

The association has solicited money from its members and other downtown businesses to pay for the advertising. It has already raised about $3,000 with commitments of another $6,000.

The group has a goal of about $15,000 to be spent on advertising.

The advertising by local businesses is expected to begin the first week in September in various media.

Life Long Learning lists programs

Northern Essex Community College's Life Long Learning program kicks off the new academic year with a wide selection of fun and interesting activities.

"Two Voices, One Song," will feature poets Marilyn Lytle Barr and Mildred Crawford reading poems from their published and new work Sept. 12.

A special introductory tour of the Northern Essex Community College Bentley Library will be held Sept. 19 at 1 p.m. Highlights of the tour include a demonstration of how to use the library's computerized catalog system. Advance registration is required.

The Life Long Learning program continues Sept. 19 with, "The Pleasures of Herbs." Diane Watkins, herbalist and owner of "From the Heart" in West Newbury, will demonstrate the practical and creative use of herbs.

September's program will conclude with Northern Essex Director of Nursing Education Dolores Haritos. She will present "Sentimental Women Need Not Apply: A History of the American Nurse," a movie.

If bitten by a tick, watch for the single most important symptom of Lyme disease - a red, ring-shaped expanding rash which develops two to five days following the bite. If this rash appears, see a doctor immediately. Unfortunately, only 75 to 80 percent of all victims develop the rash. Other initial symptoms include weakness, dizziness, headache, stiff neck, fever, muscle aches, general malaise, sore throat and swollen glands.

If untreated, the symptoms of Lyme disease often go away by themselves after a few weeks, but the person remains infected. Without antibiotics, about half of Lyme disease victims will develop the rash again in other places on their bodies, and many will develop more serious problems later.

In its later stages, Lyme disease affects three major organ systems - the joints, nerves and heart. Symptoms usually show up within four to six weeks, but can take up to two years to emerge. According to the Department of Public Health, about 60 percent of people with untreated Lyme disease get arthritis in their large joints, usually knees, elbows and wrists. The arthritis can move from joint to joint and become chronic. About 10 to 20 percent of people who don't get treatment develop nerve problems, most commonly severe headaches and stiff necks, facial paralysis or other cranial nerve palsies and weakness or pain in their hands, arms, feet and legs. These symptoms can last for weeks, often shifting from mild to severe and back again.

About six to 10 percent of people who don't receive treatment develop heart problems such as inflamed heart muscles or erratic heart beats.

It's easy to diagnose Lyme disease by the doughnut-shaped rash, but it's harder to pinpoint the disease without the rash because the symptoms mimic other ailments. Prompt treatment can prevent later and more serious problems.

Lyme disease is common in Massachusetts and its risks should be taken seriously. With a few precautions and knowledge of the symptoms, however, we can all enjoy the outdoors safely.

For more information on Lyme disease, call the Massachusetts Audubon Society's Environmental Helpline at 1-800-541-3443.

Beverly Henderson and her husband, Maurice, an engineer at AT&T, survey one of the hundreds of rows of terra cotta soldiers in the process of being cleaned and removed from the ground in China.

Beverly Henderson stands next to a headless terra cotta ceramic soldier. More than 1,000 of the ceremonial figures were unearthed during an excavation of a Chinese emperor's tomb in the city of Xian. Excavation leaders believe there may be as many as 8,000 figures guarding the tomb. This is just one of the sites the Hendersons took in during their visit.

ference," said Beverly Henderson, director of the school's public information office.

"I don't remember too many of the words and phrases, but the classes in their history and culture were invaluable," she said.

Return to China

For the McNemars, the six-week trip with more than 60 of their colleagues and colleagues' spouses was an opportunity to pick up where they left off two years ago. In June of 1989, the McNemars and their two daughters, Heather and Galen, were beginning a tour of China when the government cracked down on student democracy demonstrations in Tiananmen Square. Following the outbreak of violence, the United States requested all its citizens traveling in China to leave.

"We were anxious to see the difference between 1989 and China today," Mrs. McNemar said.

"And there were so many things we missed two years ago," she added.

Visiting the city of Xian to see the excavation of an emperor's tomb and the unearthing of more than 1,000 life-sized, terra cotta-ceramic figures was one of the trip's highlights. Mrs. McNemar said she regretted not seeing it the first time.

According to what Mrs. McNemar was told, when this particular emperor was buried thousands of ceramic soldiers were built and placed in military-style rows to protect him in his after life. The emperor's successor wanted to wipe out all traces of his predecessor so he had the tomb burned. The falling timbers crushed and covered the artifacts for thousands of years, she said.

A Harvard professor who was in charge of the dig arranged for the PA group to go down to the lower levels of the dig to get a closer look at the soldiers and the excavation techniques.

Hospitality was never scarce during their six-week trip, Mrs. McNemar said. Even though they enjoyed visiting museums, and attractions such as the excavation and the Great Wall, many of the highlights of their trip were their conversations with ordinary people, said Mr. McNemar.

One evening when the McNemars were walking in a city park they became lost and while they were trying to figure out which path would take them back to their hotel a teen-aged boy stopped and asked if they needed help. When the boy found out they were from America he was very interested in talking with them and practicing his English. "I was amazed how much he knew about America," Mrs. McNemar said.

"When he found out we were from Boston he asked how Larry Bird's foot operation went," she said.

The evening was getting late and the boy asked them if they'd like to come back to his house to meet his parents and continue their conversation in English. The McNemars told him they didn't want to impose on his parents, but the boy insisted. He told the McNemars his parents had scolded him the last time he forgot his manners and didn't invite foreign guests home for dinner.

The next night the couple took the boy up on his offer. They spent an entire evening with the boy's family in their small apartment. The family spoke a little English and Russian and the McNemars spoke a little Chinese and Russian so the group was able to communicate fairly well.

Mr. McNemar said in many of his conversations with working-class people, such as the boy's family, he sensed many were patiently waiting for the political atmosphere to change and catch up with the economic changes in their country.

"When I asked them about what happened in Tiananmen Square two years ago, many would simply say, 'Some day.' I got a feeling they were for the ruling classes to die so changes could come," he said.

Most of the people he spoke with believe the democracy movement was a just one, but that its timing wasn't right. Many also told him they thought the government's handling of the situation was too extreme. They referred to it as "the mistake," he said.

Paul Murphy, a math teacher at PA, said the Chinese students at Harbin Institute of Technology told him they were worried more democracy movements in their country would leave their country in turmoil.

"They see what has happened in countries like the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia where people are going hungry. They told me, 'We have communism, but we have plenty to eat,' Mr. Murphy said.

Everyday life

Most of the political and philosophical discussions were limited to the larger cities, said Maurice Henderson, who accompanied his wife, Beverly, on the trip. Mr. Henderson is an engineer for AT&T. He was able to incorporate visits to some of his company's joint ventures in China with the rest of PA's travel schedule.

"Most of the people we spoke with in the rural areas told us politics was for Beijing. The people we spoke with were busy with improving and living their lives," he said.

"Everywhere we went we saw little red bricks, little red tractors, and watermelons.

The people were farming every square inch of land they could to raise crops to feed the billions of people in the country. They were also building small brick homes at a feverous pace to raise their standard of living," he said.

Although Mr. Henderson said the country's standard of living has made leaps and bounds in the past five years, many people are still living as their ancestors did generations ago.

"On a train ride cross country we went by a field that bordered on some mountains. Dug right into the side of the mountains were rows and rows of wooden doors," he said.

"I was told something like 14 million people in China live in caves. They came out of the cave doors dressed in Western-style clothing like you and I wear and walked across the field to the main road. It was amazing," Mr. Henderson.

Economic reform in China has allowed many of the country's farmers, who make up nearly 70 percent of the nation's economy, to own family farms, said Mr. McNemar. The people must meet government quotas, but they are allowed to sell the surplus at open markets.

Most of the land is still worked by hand, said Mrs. McNemar. Women make up the majority of the manual labor force because men get the more prestigious factory jobs, said Mrs. McNemar.

"I can't complain about anything anymore now that I've seen what hard lives many of the women in China's rural areas have. On one car trip we took I saw dozens of women working on the side of the road cutting the grass with hand clippers. In the cities the women would be up at the early hours of the morning sweeping the streets with twig brooms," Mrs. McNemar said.

One of the main modes of transportation in both China's cities and rural areas is the bicycle.

"You'd be amazed what can be carried on a bicycle," said Mrs. Henderson.

"We saw furniture, a refrigerator and even big sheets of glass. You name it, we saw it," she said.

Mrs. Henderson said everywhere the PA group went it attracted a lot of attention. People would stop and stare. They were fascinated with the ethnicity represented in the group, including the black people in the PA group and those who had blond and red hair, she said.

"Of course some of us attracted more attention than others," said Mrs. Henderson, who is black. "Through an interpreter I found out many Chinese, the women especially, were fascinated with my hair."

Mrs. Henderson styles her hair in two braids that are woven close to her scalp. She said a few people even asked how she did the braids and some of the bolder ones asked if they could touch her hair.

"One woman even took photos of my hair," she said.

The Hendersons are now waiting for their photos to be developed. They snapped 19 rolls of film.

Area hospital does its share of recycling

Americans use approximately 50 percent of the nation's paper, 75 percent of its glass and 40 percent of its aluminum solely for packaging, according to Earth Day magazine.

Winchester Hospital has kicked off its environmental campaign by recycling computer paper and aluminum cans. White paper and newspaper will also be recycled and with the purchase of a baling machine, which compresses cardboard products, the hospital's efforts will be made increasingly easier.

"It takes 17 trees to produce one ton of paper," said Carol Edwards, member of Reading Solid Waste Committee and Winchester Hospital employee. "Yet each year enough office paper is thrown away to build a wall 12 feet high from Los Angeles to New York. Paper is one of the most easily recycled materials."

ARRESTS

Friday, Aug. 2 - Elba Luz Aponte, 24, of 68 Bunker Hill St., in Lawrence, was arrested at the Andover police station and charged with possession of a Class B substance (cocaine) with intent to distribute after being picked up by Lawrence police on an outstanding Andover warrant.

Ms. Aponte, a part-time worker at the Canal Street unemployment office in Lawrence, was also questioned at the Lawrence police station about missing Department of Employment and Training checks.

Andover police were looking for Ms. Aponte since Dec. 13, 1990, when they found cocaine at 512 Bulfinch Drive. Ms. Aponte was not there, but a warrant was put out for her arrest because the apartment was under her name.

Sunday, Aug. 4 - At 1:29 a.m., John J. Martellucci, 38, of 96 Bailey St., was arrested on Lowell Street and charged with operating under the influence (liquor).

At 4:17 a.m., Christopher P. Goulding, 22, of 61 Pine St., in Wakefield, and Robert H. Motron Jr., of 63 Aborn Ave., in Wakefield, were arrested on Lowell Street and charged with disorderly conduct.

POLICE LOG

VANDALISM

Thursday, July 30 - At 5:35 p.m., a car on Railroad Street was reported pulling limbs off a tree, according to the police log.

Friday, Aug. 2 - At 7:19 p.m., two kids were reported throwing rocks into the Senior Center.

Saturday, Aug. 3 - At 9:11 a.m., three cars were vandalized on Campanelli Drive.

At 11 p.m., a male wearing dark clothing reportedly tried to break a street light on Juliette Street, then walked into the Sacred Heart Cemetery.

Sunday, Aug. 4 - At 9:01 p.m., youths on Juniper Road were brought to the Andover police station after allegedly smashing mailboxes along the street. After talking with the parents of the two boys, the youths agreed to sweep the gutters on the street rather than face criminal charges.

Lt. Don Mooers said this type of alternative punishment is common under a diversion program in Andover. The arrangements are usually made informally.

Monday, Aug. 5 - At 7:20 p.m., the restrooms at Lovely Field were vandalized.

STOLEN CARS

Tuesday, July 30 - At 4:14 p.m., a black, 1988 Ford Mustang was reported stolen on Dascomb Road.

Thursday, Aug. 1 - At 5:58 p.m., a 1988 Mercury Grand Marquis was reported stolen from the commuter lot on Frontage Road.

Saturday, Aug. 3 - At 3:08 p.m., a car stolen out of Lawrence was found on Joseph Street.

Sunday, Aug. 4 - At 2:35 a.m., a car that appeared to be stolen was found on Haggetts Pond Road.

At 10:40 a.m., a stolen 1980 Toyota was recovered on Main Street with missing plates.

INCIDENTS

Tuesday, July 30 - At 9:44 p.m., a resident reported just receiving a phone call from a girl claiming to be a 16-year-old Andover resident stuck at South Station, in Boston, and asking the resident to contact her parents. The caller claimed to have just moved to Carmel Road with her family the day before and couldn't remember her house number. The caller didn't leave her name.

Officers went to several homes on Carmel Road and tried to find her parents, but were unable to do so. The girl never called back.

Friday, Aug. 1 - At 4:39 a.m., a caller on Fern Lane reported someone in his back yard with a camp fire. The officer who went to the residence reported it was a couple of kids having a cook out. They were instructed to put out the fire and were sent home.

At 10:21 a.m., a caller reported entering CVS/pharmacy on Main Street and being accosted by a heavy set person wearing a raincoat. The caller said he took a swing at her, but didn't wish to press charges. Police took the man to a shelter in Lawrence.

Saturday, Aug. 3 - At 7:31 p.m., a Brent-

Lowell Street residents plagued by traffic

By Helen Ubinas

The construction on Interstate 93 is plaguing Lowell Street residents with more than their share of obstacles.

Commuters who travel on the interstate to get to the Route 495 ramp are now directed to Route 133.

Route 133 leads commuters to an intersection where they can reach Route 495.

David Wilson, state district highway engineer, said major bridge work makes it necessary to close the ramp normally used to reach Route 495.

Residents on Lowell Street living near Route 133, however, are continually concerned with the increased flow of traffic in their neighborhood.

Sheila Willard, of 467 Lowell St., said she doesn't understand why the construction is taking so long.

"They've been working on the bridge for more than a year," she said. "I don't see people working on it. It appears to be an abandoned project."

Mr. Wilson said unanticipated work halted construction on the bridge for a while.

Last year, three contracts were drawn up for the resurfacing and replacement of some of the bridge. The original contract anticipated the replacement of a deck, but after the initial work, workers discovered the bridge needed major rehabilitation.

When workers discovered the deterioration in the columns, they decided the columns needed to be knocked down and replaced. Mr. Wilson said the discovery made it necessary to draw up a new contract in order to continue the work.

Mr. Wilson said the Federal Highway Commission had to come up with $1.6 million to fund the extra cost.

struction some time next year.

"This situation is similar to when a doctor takes you into the operating room for your appendix," he said. "When he opens you up and he sees something else is wrong he realizes you need further work."

Trucks driving through a residential area is another difficulty Ms. Willard has to live with. She said the immediate impact is noise and dirt.

She also believes the amount of traffic has an influence on the real estate market in the neighborhood.

Some residents have sold their homes and she believes the traffic has something to do with it. When receiving appraisals for her home, both individuals mentioned the traffic.

Dee Dee O'Brien, director of the therapeutic riding program at Ironstone Farm at 456 Lowell St., said she never really noticed a problem with the traffic, except for a couple of students being late for lessons.

"Traffic is usually heavy around 4 and 5 p.m.," she said.

Ms. O'Brien said she works until 9 p.m. and she's not aware of a real problem.

Still, while some don't see a problem, others have regarded traffic as being a problem for a while.

John J. Hanley, of 384 Lowell St., said even before the construction began, he noticed heavy traffic on Route 133.

"It's more so now," he said. "But we've often been plagued by trucks from surrounding businesses," he said.

His biggest problem is getting out of the driveway.

Mr. Hanley said people resent the residents breaking into the traffic flow.

"It's an exercise," he said. "An exercise Evil Knievel might not even attempt."

Support group is for jobless

The First Presbyterian Church of Haverhill, 346 Broadway (one block south of Route 495, exit 50, Route 97), runs a support group for job seekers. The weekly meetings are held Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m.

Topics include skills assessment, resume development, networking, interview techniques and benefits information. For registration information, call 374-8029 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The group was started by Henry G. Dulin of North Andover, whose job as general manager for an electronics distribution company was eliminated.

Memory Lane Studios

Vernon Sewade, owner of Memory Lane Studios, wants to bring a high standard of customer service and professionalism back to the studio photography business. He is working to make Memory Lane Studios the #1 wedding and studio photography business in the Merrimack Valley. Vernon has been in the business for the last 20 years, and worked locally for four years before opening his own studio. He is a member of several professional societies, and he and his staff continuously update their skill and knowledge through professional courses. While much of the emphasis of the business is on weddings and portraits, Memory Lane can do any type of photography from commercial to sports.

The dedication to customer service is very evident in the treatment given to wedding parties. The bride will always meet the photographer who is scheduled to cover her wedding and see examples of his work. The photographer comes with the proper equipment and backups to make sure that nothing interferes with the photographic coverage of this most special day.

Memory Lane Studios offers an extra benefit in that it has attractive natural environment locations along the Shawheen River only a few steps from the studio. The photographer will also come to your home or to another location of your choice for sittings. The style of portraiture known as Environmental Family Photographs is another new feature at Memory Lane. This is a series of relaxed, candid photos taken in a natural environment, and then displayed together to create a photo montage in your home. Customer satisfaction is a primary goal at Memory Lane Studios, and they will work with you to ensure that goal. They are a moderately priced studio, and can create custom packages which reflect your needs. Memory Lane does dance and modeling photography (individual and group), sports team, and prom and senior pictures. They also take recreation photos of your favorite activity, your boat, or your plane. "Capturing your memories for a lifetime" is what Memory Lane Studios is all about.

Memory Lane Studios is located at 350 Greene Street in North Andover. Sittings are by appointment only, and the phone number is (508) 689-8482.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain Mortgage given by Dorothy Gallant and John E. Paine to Home Savings of America, F.A., dated December 20, 1988 and filed with the Essex County Northern District of the Land Court as Document No. 46410, as noted on Certificate of Title No. 10639, of which Mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said Mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing, the same will be sold at Public Auction at 12:00 noon, on the 27th day of August, A.D. 1991, on the mortgaged premises located at 169 Elm Street, Andover, Essex County, Massachusetts, all and singular the premises described in said Mortgage.

TO WIT

That certain parcel of land situate in Andover, Essex County, Massachusetts, bounded and described as follows:

Northwesterly: by Elm Street one hundred five and 10/100 (105 10/100) feet;

Northeasterly: by lot numbered thirty-six (36) as shown on plan hereinafter mentioned one hundred twenty-five (125) feet;

Southeasterly: by lot numbered fifty-two (52) as shown on said plan one hundred five and 70/100 (105 70/100) feet; and Southwesterly: by Fox Hill Road one hundred twenty-five and 03/100 (125 03/100) feet.

All of said boundaries are determined by the Court to be located as shown on Plan No. 18975B, drawn by Fred W. Stowers, Engineer, dated April 1946 approved by the Court, filed in the Land Registration Office, a copy of a portion of which is filed with Certificate of Title No. 3996, Book 27, Page 185, and being designated as lot numbered thirty-five (35) thereon.

There is hereby granted the right to the use of a sewer line parallel with the southeasterly line of Elm Street, extending from Brookfield Road to Rock Ridge Road as set forth in Certificate of Title No. 8996, Book 27, Page 185.

Said land is subject to a reservation pertaining to said sewer line as set forth in Document No. 11953.

There is appurtenant to the above described land an easement over lots numbered thirty-six (36), thirty-seven (37) and thirty-eight (38) to maintain, repair and replace a water service pipe until the Town of Andover shall supply water from its mains in Elm Street.

There is hereby granted the right to the use of the private way or ways shown on said plan for purposes of ingress and egress to and from accepted streets in the Town of Andover.

Said Premises will be sold subject to or with the benefit of any and all restrictions, easements, improvements, covenants, taxes, assessments, liens or claims in the nature of liens, and existing encumbrances of record created prior to the Mortgage, if any, there be. A deposit of Ten Thousand Five Hundred Dollars in cash, certified check or bank check will be required to be paid by the purchaser at the time and place of sale with the balance of the purchase price to be paid within 30 days thereafter.

Other terms to be announced at the time and place of sale.

Nails by Kristen

The cheerful but cozy atmosphere at Nails by Kristen, located in Olde Andover Village, provides just the right feeling for the relaxed pampering that goes on here. Nails by Kristen is a full service nail salon which specializes in manicures, pedicures and acrylic nails. Owner Kristen Trede and Michelle Pelletier, who works with Kristen, were formerly at the Nail Place. Kristen is pleased to welcome Andover native Johnna Beal to her staff as well.

Kristen's manicure is the lowest-priced in town, always just ten dollars; and the pedicure is the ultimate in luxury, an hour of special care including an exfoliating treatment. For those in a hurry, there is a mini-pedicure, half the time and half the price. Nails by Kristen also offers paraffin treatments for hands and feet, and silk and fiberglass wraps for nails.

Nails by Kristen welcomes men, women and children. The staff enjoys the opportunity to teach young girls how to care for their nails. Wedding parties can also make appointments to have their manicures. Gift certificates are available for that special treat for someone who needs some pampering.

Nails by Kristen is located in Andover at 93 Main Street, in the Olde Andover Village complex. Parking is available. The shop is open Tuesday through Saturday, by appointment, but walk-ins are welcome. The phone number is (508) 475-6633.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Jonathan T. Taylor and Helen E. Taylor to the BayBank Merrimack Valley NA, now known as BayBank Middlesex, a banking corporation duly organized under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, said mortgage being dated December 9, 1986 and recorded with Essex North District Registry of Deeds in Book 2373, Page 104, of which mortgage the undersigned, BayBank Middlesex, is the present holder for Breach of the Conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at Public Auction at 10:00 A.M. on August 28, 1991 on the premises described in said mortgage (200-202 North Main Street, Andover, Essex County, Massachusetts all and singular the premises described in said mortgage; to wit

A certain tract of land with the buildings thereon, situated on the westerly side of North Main Street, in Andover, being shown as Lot No. 4 on, "Plan of Property in Andover, Mass., as subdivided by M.T. Stevens & Sons, Co.," dated November 11, 1952, Clinton I. Goodwin, Engineer, recorded with the North District Registry of Essex as Plan No. 2619, said Lot is more particularly bounded and described as follows:

EASTERLY: by North Main Street, 61.40 feet
SOUTHERLY: by Lot No. 5, 100.02 feet; WESTERLY: by land retained by the said Stevens, 61.11 feet, and

NORTHERLY: by Lot No. 3, 100.02 feet
Containing 6,126 square feet, more or less, according to said plan, together with the right to use in common with M.T. Stevens & Sons, Co., its successors and assigns a strip of land having a width of nine (9) feet Westerly from North Main Street and being immediately adjacent to the Northerly line of the premises herein conveyed, and reserving to the M.T. Stevens & Sons, Co., its successors and assigns, the right to use in common with others entitled thereto a strip of land having a width of nine (9) feet and running Westerly from North Main Street and being the most northerly 9 foot strip of parcel herein conveyed and said premises are conveyed subject to an easement reserved by the M.T. Stevens & Sons, Co., its successors and assigns to maintain or re-lay a sewer line running across said premises as shown on said plan with full right of access sufficient to maintain and re-lay said sewer line at all times

Being the same premises conveyed to these Grantors by deed of CHARLES E. GENDRON AND EDITH M. GENDRON, dated December 9, 1986 and recorded herewith

TERMS OF SALE: Said premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes and assessments, tax sales, tax titles and other municipal liens and water liens, if any there are, and TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS ($10,000.00) in cash or certified check will be required to be paid by the purchaser at the time and place of sale as a deposit and the balance will be due in thirty (30) days.

The Mortgagee reserves the right to postpone the sale to a later date by public proclamation at the time and date appointed for the sale and to further postpone at any adjourned sale date by public proclamation at the time and date appointed for the adjourned sale date.

In the event that the successful bidder at the foreclosure sale shall default in purchasing the within described property according to the terms of this Notice of Sale and/or the terms of the Memorandum of Sale executed at the time of foreclosure, the Mortgagee reserves the right to sell the property by foreclosure deed to the second highest bidder providing that said second highest bidder shall deposit with the Mortgagee's attorneys, Gerald S. Cournoyer, Jr. and Associates, the amount of the required deposit as set forth herein within three (3) business days after written notice of the default of the previous highest bidder and title shall be conveyed to the said second highest bidder within twenty (20) days of said written notice.

The foreclosure deed and the consideration paid by the successful bidder shall be held in escrow by Gerald S. Cournoyer, Jr.
& Associates (hereinafter called the "Escrow Agent") until the sale has been approved by the Land Court. Upon receipt of such Land Court approval, the deed shall be released from escrow to the successful bidder at the same time as the consideration is released to the Mortgagee, whereupon all obligations of the Escrow Agent shall be deemed to have properly fulfilled and the Escrow Agent shall be discharged. In the event such Land Court approval is not obtained other than through the fault of the successful bidder after payment in full of said consideration, all consideration shall be returned to the successful bidder and the deed shall be returned to the Mortgagee in which event neither party shall have recourse against the other party or the Escrow Agent.

But many neighbors who live in the Osgood Street area, approximately 35 of whom attended Monday's hearing, were not happy with the decision.

"See you in court," one Osgood Street woman muttered after hearing the board's decision.

"I think they've rendered the Town Meeting vote meaningless," said William J. Sloboda, another Osgood Street resident.

Many of the neighbors wore lapel stickers reading, "No Bruk petition" set in a red circle with a red slash through it.

Jane Griswold, chairing the meeting for the zoning board, said following the vote that she expected the decision would end up in court whichever way the vote went.

"I made a decision I can live with. I assume that they will take this to court," Ms. Griswold said of the neighbors.

Dan Casper, zoning board member, said many planning stages and hearings remain to be dealt with before any construction can begin at Vicor.

"This is a long way from being over," Mr. Casper said.

Two lots only

The petition approved Monday night was for two of the three lots only, and did not include any changes for the third lot, on Osgood Street, on which the Professional Center for Handicapped Children is located. Nor did it

'I made a decision I can live with. I assume that they will take this to court.'

Jane Griswold

include any provisions for special parking considerations.

The center is a non-profit organization that might have had to eventually move if the zoning or allowed use for that lot was changed. Mr. Bruk withdrew proposed changes for that lot from the petition after residents voiced their opposition at earlier hearings.

A request for a special permit to allow parking within 50 feet of a public road was also withdrawn from the petition. Any such parking plan will have to be resubmitted for consideration if it is still included in the site plan at a later date.

The current plans are to double the size of the present building and add a number of required parking spaces along the frontage road edge of the property.

Neighbors' concerns

Neighbors in the area are concerned with the effect the larger building and increased parking will have on the aesthetics of the neighborhood, and that the 100 additional employees at Vicor will increase traffic problems on Dascomb Road, Frontage Road and Osgood Street. They are also concerned that the site couldn't handle the sewerage increase.

Walter McNamara, of 7 Cardinal Lane, compared the decision to allow the expansion to last year's construction of Penguin Park. He said it wouldn't be so easy to go in and shut Vicor down and move it after the town realized its mistake this time.

"Only the neighborhood can be harmed if the petition is allowed," Mr. Sloboda said.

But the traffic problems are the result of general growth throughout town and are a problem for the Planning Board to deal with, according to zoning board members, not the zoning board.

"Unless the town is willing to take that land by eminent domain," Ms. Griswold said, she couldn't see using traffic as a reason not to approve the petition.

The sewer problem is also not a zoning issue and is going to have to be dealt with during planning and design.

The neighbors were also concerned with how the ZBA could consider reversing what they said was the intent of a town meeting vote.

But town meeting vote was for a rezoning issue and the current request was for a use variance, and the two were not related, Ms. Griswold said at the hearing. She relied on the expertise of Mr. Casper and C. Ryan Buckley, both attorneys and both board members, and of Robert Zollner, special council for the town, in making her decision, Ms. Griswold said.

Hardship justification

The petitioner for a use variance is required to prove "hardship" as defined in zoning regulations, and the board unanimously felt that was done.

"I believe that, after looking at it, there is a hardship," Mr. Casper said. He said it was clear that the land was "not practically used for its zoned purposes."

He cited a recent Massachusetts Court of Appeals case as a precedent that the land surrounding a lot, in this case Interstate 93, Dascomb Road, Digital Equipment Corp. and Raytheon Co., can be considered in judging hardship.

The board had testimony from realtors that marketing the lots for residential or nonprofit use was possible, but at least one of them had been involved in an attempt to sell the property and didn't feel there was much hope of developing it for non-commercial purposes.

The board members said several efforts had been made to sell the property over the past six years, all of which fell through for financial reasons, and it was no secret that the land was on the market.

Ms. Griswold also said she could not see the lots as a location for a residential development that she could ever be proud of.
